PRESIDENT TEXAS COLLEGE IS MISSING

DISAPPEARANCE OF HEAD OF BURLESON COLLEGE REPORTED

MISSING SINCE ARRIVING IN DALLAS ON MONDAY; FRIENDS WORRIED

DALLAS, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Members of the faculty and student body of Burleson College of Greenville, joined with police and relatives here today in a search for Dr. E. W. Provence, president of the college, for whose safety they feared after his disappearance Monday.

Classes were suspended at the college and students and teachers hurried here when news of Dr. Provence's prolonged absence was received. They divided into groups and visited hospitals and clinics, believing he could have suffered a lapse of memory.

Greenville friends advanced the theory that Dr. Provence had suffered a lapse of memory brought on by worry over financial difficulties of the college.

Acting on his suggestion, radio broadcasting stations were to disseminate a description of the president in the belief he might have gone to some remote point.

The Rev. A. A. Dulancy, Greenville Baptist minister and trustee of the college, said Dr. Provence had complained the latter part of last week of being ill and refused an invitation to speak in the Rev. Dulaney's church Sunday night.

Books at the college had been checked and everything was all right, the Rev. Dulaney said.

Dr. Provence is the father of three children and was devoted to his family, friends said.

CHARGES AGAINST PARENTS IN DEATH CHILD WITHDRAWN

DALLAS, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Because, he said, they had been punished enough by the death of their little daughter, Mayor J. Waddy Tate today ordered withdrawn charges preferred against Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Pidcock for negligent homicide in connection with the death from diphtheria of their child.

The charge had been based on a claim that the parents refused to allow doctors to administer antitoxin to the little girl because their religious belief precluded it. The mother and father contended they had not refused to permit the treatment. The charges were filed by Dr. Lane B. Cooke, director of public health.

Two Face Charges After Man Beaten Death at Pampa

PAMPA, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Carl Hefner and Emmett Thompson faced a preliminary hearing today on murder charges in connection with the death of Homer Crabtree near Lefors, yesterday. Crabtree was beaten into insensibility during a quarrel and died in a hospital. The thee men were prominent Gray county ranchmen.

Friends of Crabtree said a tense situation had existed between him and several neighbros for years and the argument yesterday was believed to have resulted from a dispute over a horse.

KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING

OPELOUSAS, La., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Henry Pitre, 37, was fatally injured here yesterday in a grade accident as a Missouri Pacific passenger train struck her buggy, her two sisters, riding with her leaped to safety. Mrs. Pitre was hurled sixty feet by the impact, and died a short time later. She was the mother of seven children.

BLALOCK RESIGNS

AUSTIN, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Resignation of Jack Blalock, first assistant attorney general, was submitted to Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt today. It was effective immediately and Blalock [illegible] for San Antonio to become connected with a San Antonio law [illegible]. Blalock has been an assistant attorney general since April, 1929, and became first assistant in September, 1930.

MAYOR'S WIFE DIES

WAXAHACHIE, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Funeral services were planned today for Mrs. T. O. Cheatham, wife of Mayor Cheatham of Waxahachie, who died of heart disease yesterday.

One Difference In New Senate's List to Date

Republicans elected, 13, holdovers, 34; total 47.

Democrats elected, 20, holdovers, 26; total 46.

Farmer-Labors elected, 0, holdovers, 1; total 1.

Still doubtful, 2.

Necessary for a majority, 49.

DIVERGENT VIEWS AIRED ON REASONS FOR DEMO VICTORY

DEMOCRATS SAY BROKEN PROMISES; REPUBLICANS SAY DEPRESSION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—From diametrically opposed viewpoints republican and democratic spokesmen sized up the election today while its final results still were clouded in doubt.

The democrats termed the drive that took them to the verge, at least, of control in both senate and house, a clean-cut victory on the issue of "failure of the administration to meet its responsibility."

They carred enthusiasm into an optmistic consideraton of their chances at capturng the presidency in 1932.

The republican commanders on the contrary held the democratic gains not surprising on the basis of two factors: Their own encroachments in 1928 or normally democratic territory, and the current business depression. They refused to see in the vote any popular rebuke to the administration.

Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the republican national committee went further, asserting that "everything considered the result must be taken as a vindication of the national administration.

SENSATION SPRUNG IN INVESTIGATION OF CRASH OF R-101

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Hugh Downing, vice-marshal of the air ministry, created a sensation today at the inquiry into the R-101 disaster, by testifying he had ordered a full power trial as soon as possible after the dirigible had left her mooring mast on the Indian voyage, but that his instructions were not obeyed.

The ship had never had a full power trial, he said, and he issued the order as a safeguard, figuring that if anything went wrong the R-101 could immediately turn back to England.

The vice-marshal said he had given his instructions verbally to Wing-Commander Colmore, who perished in the crash.

It also was brought out that Lord Thomson, the air minister who also was killed, had issued a certificate of air worthiness without a formal written report on the one trial to which the dirigible had been submitted.

Before the certificate was issued there was a final inspection which took two men about two hours. The ship started for India before these inspectors had time to make a formal written report, he said.

Break Leg One Day Walk Next With New Surgical Invention

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The perfection of an iron frame which makes it possible for a person to suffer a broken leg one day and walk on it the next, was announced before a joint session of the American Association of Railway Surgeons and the Surgical Association of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway.

After the bone has been set the fractured leg is placed in a cast [illegible] the patient can walk about and even return to work.

SEVENTY-NINE ARE KILLED IN BLASTS IN OHIO COAL MINE

NUMBER OF OFFICIALS ON INSPECTION TOUR INCLUDED IN VICTIMS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The Red Cross here announced this afternoon that the known death loss in the mine disaster at Millfield, Athens county, had reached 79. They said the original figures had not included the bodies of three men which were removed from the workings and sent directly to their homes.

With the recheck of the list the Red Cross said they found nine bodies had not been identified.

The Red Cross said a number of miners are still among the missing and may have been caught under falling debris in the tunnel. They said the bodies of some of them may never be recovered, especially those who were in the immediate vicinity of the blast.

MILLFIELD, O., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Number six mine of the Sunday Creek Coal company gave up the last of its dead today when the 76th and last body of the men who met death when an explosion and fire wrecked the underground workings late yesterday was brought to the surface.

Fear that this toll might be increased, however, was expressed by rescue workers and officials of the Sunday Creek company because of the serious condition of eighteen men who escaped alive from the inferno.

They were brought out after having spent several hours in the gas filled shaft.

Bodies of the dead were placed in an improvised morgue in an empty store room and efforts were being made to identify them. The bodies were discolored and it appeared the men had died from the effects of inhaling poisonous gas.

The dead included all members of an inspection party, who had been lowered into the underground tunnels a few minutes before the fatal blasts.

Inspection Party Killed

Among them were William Tytus of Columbus, president of the Sunday Creek company; Howard Upson, field manager; Hubert Lancaster, chief engineer; Robert Parsons, superintendent of the Columbia Steam Engine plant at Fultonham, a subsidiary of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company; Thomas B. Traynor, traffic manager, and Vernon Roberts, foreman of the Columbia company; J. Bergen, superintendent of the Ohio Power plant at Philo; and P. A. Coen, vice president in charge of sales for the coal company.

A silent crowd of women and children whose husbands and fathers met death stood throughout the night, hoping against hope that their beloved ones had escaped the choking gas, but broke into tears when body after body was brought to the surface in a cage that dropped down into the depths of the mine.

This little village, a typical Hocking county mining center, virtually was under martial law. A detachment of national guardsmen was thrown about the entrance to keep back the anxious and the curious alike and keep traffic moving on the narrow

LAW ENFORCEMENT COMMISSION STARTS WORK ON DRY LAWS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—President Hoover's law enforcement commission plunged in earnest today into its task of deciding just what, if anything, should be done about the dry laws.

The date of its final report was still indefinite.

Asked if his hope of a prohibition report to congress early in December would materialize, Chairman Wickersham said with a smile

"I won't make any predictions now I might be wrong."

There were indication today, however, the members are approaching the showdown which is expected to precede the formulation of their report.

The various commissioners have been preparing their views for presentation, some of them in written form. A court reporter was present at the meeting today to record the various points upon which all agreed.

Virtually every member of the [illegible], however, has stressed [illegible] volume of data to be [illegible] and the fact that it has not yet been entirely assimilated.

INVESTIGATION OF OUTPUT RECORDS ALL COMPANIES ON UNIVERSITY LANDS ORDERED

AUSTIN, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Investigation of production records of all oil companies operating on lands leased from the University of Texas has been ordered by the house legislative committee charged with inquiring into leasing of land and collections of royalties.

The serenty of the committee meeting was disrupted yesterday by Representative Bob Long of Wichita Falls, who charged that further investigations would avail nothing.

After Long's objection was overruled, the youthful representative announced his resignation as secretary of the committee. He will continue, however, as a member until the report is filed with the legislature next January.

Long stated a check of the records of oil companies would provide no additional information, enough having been obtained from the auditor's investigation of the records of the Big Lake Oil company, group No. 1 Oil Corporation and the Reagan County Purchasing company, to show irregularities in royalty payments. Long criticized the workers of the auditors in the investigation of these companies stating the audit was practically useless and that the state would be "laughed out of court" if it instituted proceedings based on the report.

The committee adjourned until November 14 when a joint session will be held with the university board of regents to go over "irregularities" in the expenditure of money from the available fund. Auditors reported they had found several "questionable" entries in which the law had not been complied with but that nothing had been found which would indicate the funds had been misapplied or diverted.

The committee also will discuss with the regents, proposed changes in the law, to give the board greater latitude in disposing of money in the available fund.

Investigation of other oil companies was ordered by the committee after S. N. McLaran, assistant state auditor, said he believed hundreds of thousands of dollars could be recovered by the state if a complete check was made. The auditor was ordered to pick out the companies he wished to audit first.

Rock Island to Return 2100 Men To Work Nov. 17

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The Rock Island lines will return 2,100 shopmen to work at nine points on its system Nov. 17 for employment the last two weeks of November and possibly the first two weeks of December, contingent upon business conditions.

The men will be distributed as follows: Chicago 600, Silvis, Ill., 800; Horton, Kans., 200; Kansas City, Mo., 105; Shawnee, Okla., 130; Little Rock, Ark., 55; Fort Worth, Texas, 75.

Former Judge and Wife Fingerprinted And Photographed

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(AP)—George F. Ewald, former city magistrate, indicted for alleged purchase of his judgeship, and Mrs. Ewald, were finger printed and photographed at police headquarters today. They submitted to the formality only after a court so ordered.

"I have done nothing to go through this degradation and have my picture in the rogue's gallery," Mrs. Ewald said.

The former magistrate spoke no word except to say, in answer to a question, that he had no occupation and was 43 years old.

WISCONSIN BANK ROBBED

KENOSHA, Wis., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Two nervous youths, wearing stockings with holes cut in them as masks, held up the Silver Lake State Bank, 17 miles west of Kenosha today, and escaped with currency and silver estimated by bank officials at $3,000.

Diamond Broker Tells Story of Being Robbed

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Diamonds valued at $40,000 were stolen from him last night by three bandits who kidnapped him near his home, Abe Rothblum, a diamond broker, told police.

Bothblum said he was held up shortly after he had left home to take a train for New York, forced into a car, taken out on a prairie, searched and beaten. He was given medical attention and was held in technical custody pending investigation.

Two Are Injured in Auto Crashes Near Houston Thursday

HOUSTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Two persons were in hospitals today following auto accidents near the city.

Buster Strickland, 24, suffered a fractured skull when a truck he was driving collided with an auto nine miles from Houston on the Hempstead road.

Dan Forest Travis, 8, son of Mrs. L. C. Travis of Aldine, was in a critical condition from internal injuries and a broken left leg, suffered when he was hit by a car as he was crossing the road near a school where he is a pupil. The automobile was driven by J. W. Denton of Huntsville.

APPROVES SUNDAY MOVIES

WICHITA, Kas., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Showing a change of heart since previous elections, Wichita voters have expressed approval of Sunday movies. The proposition in Tuesday's election received 18,053 votes for and 16,914 against.

MAXIM LITVINOFF DECLARES WORLD IS FACING WAR MENACE

RUSSIAN DELEGATE DISARMAMENT COMMISSION ATTACKS STAND OTHERS

GENEVA, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Attacking the League of Nations disarmament commission today, Maxim Litvinoff, Russian delegate, declared the world was faced with grave menaces of war.

The soviet spokesman especially assailed France and those who demand security before disarmament a dangerous enemies of peace.

"It is no wonder," Litvinoff asserted, "that among the countries which were loudest in their demands for 'security' guarantes were some in which the chiefs of the military staffs were, as is now common knowledge, at the same time devising and carrying out plans for the provocation of war with their neighbors."

The Russian declared himself hopeless of success for the soviet's former proposals for absolute disarmament, and later for proportionate disarmament. He demanded, however, that the commission substitute the word disarmament for the terms limitation and reduction of armaments."

Although ruled out of order by Chairman Loudon who forbade the translation of Litvinoff's speech, the Rusisan delegate had prepared copies of his pronouncement which were distributed to the press after he had read it to the commisison in English.

A disturbance arose in the hall when the chairman forbade e translation. Most of the occupants

EMPLOYER OF MANY MEN TELLS THEM TO SPEND THEIR MONEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(AP)—To the eight thousand or so employes on the payroll of his construction company, Irwin S. Chanin, New York builder, said today:

"You, like other wage earners, have been saving your money for a rainy day instead of buying things you need, because you have been afraid you might lose your jobs. That rainy day hasn't come and we believe it will not.

"In return for our assurance that your jobs looks safe, buy that new clothing, that household furniture or whatever you would be buyin if times were normal. Buy now because prices in most lines are at rock bottom, and because your buying with that of other wage earners will bring us back to prosperity.

"Think and work with enthusiasm and without worrying about the depression."

Fear of unemployment by persons now employed is largely unfounded, Mr. Chanin said, since most of those who still have jobs will keep them.

GARNER SAYS WILL WORK WITH HOOVER IF DEMOCRATS WIN

UVALDE, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Watching election returns indicating a close race between democrats and republicans for control of the house, John Garner, democratic minority leader, said yesterday if he won the speakership he would work in harmony with President Hoover in an effort to bring the nation back to prosperity.

"And I know he will do a better job of it than the republicans have done in these last two years," he said.

"Tax reforms will be advocated and everything possible will be done by the democrats to bring the nation back to prosperity."

Garner favors a tariff on oil and said the live tock industry of the nation should be protected.

Claims Double-Crossed.

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Claiming that he was double-crossed in the election Tuesday by the city-county political ring now in power, Henry B. Dielmann, defeated candidate for congress in the 14th district, today resigned as back tax collector for the city. Dielmann was defeated for congress by H. M. Wurzbach, Republican incumbent.

House Control Still Remains In Doubt Today

Associated Press returns from congressional districts at 2:30 p. m. (EST) on contests for the 435 seats in the new house of representatives showed:

Republicans elected, 215; present congress, 260.

Democrats elected, 213; present congress, 160.

Farmer-Labors elected one; present congress, one.

Socialists elected, none; present congress, none.

Still doubtful, six.

Necessary for a majority, 218.

Revision of returns restored two districts, Illinois at large, and eighth Indiana to the doubtful list.

STATE OPERATING ON DEFICIENCY AS FUNDS EXHAUSTED

AUSTIN, Nov. 6.—(AP)—After a conference with Treasurer Gregory Hatcher, Gov. Dan Moody said today he had no doubt arrangements could be made with banks to carry all state warrants pending the wiping out of the deficit in the general revenue fund by tax collections in February.

The governor and treasurer will confer again Saturday, with the interim being spent in consulting bankers.

It was pointed out that the law provides that state depositories need not pay interest on state funds when they are carrying warrants, so that they do not stand to lose any money by carrying the warrants temporarily.

According to the treasury records, the state has about 4,000,000 on deposit in state depositories. The deficit now is less than a million dollars and probablw amount to nearly $3,000,000 before the deficit is wiped out.

AUSTIN, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The state of Texas, having exhausted its general revenue fund, was operating on a deficiency basis today.

Although this is the first time in several years that there has been a deficiency, the reason was not due to extraordinary slowness of tax collections, but to inability of banks to advance funds as they had done in previous years, Gregory Hatcher, state treasurer, said.

Gov. Dan Moody expressed surprise that Hatcher was unable to make the usual arrangements, saying he had recently been told by the vice president of a large bank that his bank would be glad to take care of a part of the warrants.

The governor also called attention to a law passed by the 40th legislature, in which the annual deficiency until tax collections were paid into the treasury in January and February, was recognized.

Hatcher said there was no criticism due the banks, for "refusing to continue to assist me in artificially financing the state," because "the increased financial burdens placed upon them and the increased legal complications that have arisen from year to year fully warrants such action."

Unpaid warrants yesterday when the deficiency basis was reached, amounted to $779,067.

OIL FIELD WORKER KILLED

VIVIAN, La., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Glen Darnell, 26, oil field worker, was killed today when a roadster he was driving struck a sand bed near Rodessa and overturned, pinning him under the wrecked car and causing suffocation. E. E. Yount and wife, passengers in the car were only slightly hurt

REPUBLICANS LACK ONLY ONE SEAT OF HOLDING CONTROL

NEITHER PARTY WILL HAVE WORKABLE MAJORITY IN NEXT CONGRESS

By CECIL B. DICKSON
Associated Pres Staff Writer

With the victory of Representative Selvig in the Ninth Minnesota district, the republicans have captured 217 house seats, on the basis of late returns, or one less than a majority.

Only one more seat is needed by the republicans to obtain 218 seats or a bare majority. A second Minnesota seat, that in the tenth district, is still undecided between a republican and a farmer-labor.

The democrats are leading in the six undecided districts in Kentucky, and the defeat of Representative Langley in a republican stronghold in that state appears likely on the basis of late returns.

The most determined democratic bid for congressional control since the party yielded power twelve years ago was just short today of attaining majorities in either branch.

Almost deadlocked in their biennial election contests, the republicans and democrats awaited final reports from outlying districts and recounts of Tuesday's elections to make sure which would organize the next senate and house.

Republicans were almost in a position to get the votes for control of the house organization but they were depending on belated rallies by two senate candidates to overturn a bare margin in the

Nationally Known Advertising Man Killed Auto Crash

AKRON, O., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Orva G. Williams, Sr., 65, of Chicago, nationally known advertising man and former president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, was killed in an automobile collision here last night.

J. A. Stewart of Akron, whose automobile collided with Williams', was charged with manslaughter for alleged failure to stop for a boulevard, and was bound to the grand jury under $5,000 bond.

Mix's Shattered Shoulder Held Up By Wire For Years

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Tom Mix, film cowboy, performed his hard riding film stunts with a shattered shoulder held together by wire for several years. Dr. R. Nichol Smith, his physician, made the disclosure today in announcing he would remove the wires by an operation tomorrow or next week.

Mix has been in the Hollywood hospital since last Saturday, suffering arthitis, chiefly of the back. His condition has improved steadily.

Negro Confesses to Robbery and Fire

MEXIA, Nov. 6.—(AP)—District Attorney Sam McCorkle said today a negro had made a statement to him acknowledging responsibility for theft of $500 worth of merchandise from the Peyton Dry goods store at Wortham yesterday and the fire that did about $25,000 damage to the building and stock. The negro was to be charged with burglary, arson and felony theft, McCorkle said.

The National Dish of America Is Variety

The Englishman and his roast beef the Italian and his spaghetti the Mexican's chile con carne the Chinese and their rice many countries have their national dishes.

What is the American national dish? There isn't any. Bostonians may go for beans, but the country as a whole is decidedly open-minded on the food question.

Americans have learned that there are so many choice kinds of foods available that they never think of limiting themselves to any one. Housewives have learned to vary their menus. They seek constantly for something new and appetizing. Grocers' shelves help them find it.

Adding impetus to food shopping is the government report that food prices are now much lower than those of last year.

A silent crowd of women and children whose husbands and fathers met death stood throughout the night, hoping against hope that their beloved ones had escaped the choking gas, but broke into tears when body after body was brought to the surface in a cage that dropped down into the depths of the mine.

This little village, a typical Hocking county mining center, virtually was under martial law. A detchment of national guardsmen was thrown about the entrance to keep back the anxious and the curious alike and keep traffic moving on the narrow, winding road leading to Athens, the county seat nine miles away from where relief supplies were being dispatched.

Rescuers Work All Night

Several hundreds friends and loved ones of the tombed men huddled together, sometimes hysterical, sometimes quietly weeping as they kept their eyes on the entrance to the shaft. Rescue men, working until the effects of the gas drove them out and then giving way to another crew, toiled throughout the night under brilliant searchlights.

As fast as the bodies were brought out, they were taken to the temporary make-shift morgue near the mine entrance, where a corps of 25 embalmers from a number of cities were on hand to lay them out on slabs to await identification.

Many of the victims' faces were blued and twisted and the bodies gave evidences of their wild rushes seeking freedom from the gas.

The first explosion was tremendous. Tons of slate and coal were jolted into the passageways. Bodies of many of the workers were dismembered. A short time later there was a second blast and the mine filled with gas which penetrated masks and held back rescuers until last night.

His wife's apron saved the life of George Rasp, one of the trapper workers who escaped death.

Rasp said he was blown almost 100 feet by the force of the explosion. He hard a roaring noise and then the shouts of his fellow underground prisoners.

"In my hand, for some reason, was my wife's apron, which I had brought to tie around my face because the air had been so bad lately," Rasp related.

"I dipped the apron in some coffee I found in a lunch bucket and tied it across my face. Then I crawled on my hands and feet—it seemed like a mile I crawled—until I came to an air shaft where I was able to get up on a wooden stairway."

For a while he had companions who helped each other across fallen timber and piles of slate, but when he reached the air shaft he was alone. He did not know the fate of the others.

John Butsco of Millfield, who was working about a mile from the explosion section with 30 others, told of shouting a warning and of a race against death. He and his crew and about 60 others escaped, he estimated.

It was estimated that approximately 300 children were left fatherless, but there was a ray of hope for the dependent families left destitute. Governor Myers Y. Coopr ordered representative of the industrial relations department to forget "red tape" and arrange for immediate payment of workmen's compensation funds.

One Killed; 36 Injured.

NOTTINGHAM, Eng., Nov. 6.—(AP)—One miner was killed and 36 injured in the derailment of haulage cars in the Moer Green Colliery which got out of control and ran down a hill. Six of the injured were in a serious condition.

Two Line Workmen Killed By Blast of Gas in Louisiana

SHREVEPORT, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The death toll caused by an explosion in the gas line in Panola county, Texas, near Bethany, La., late yesterday increased to three today when W. R. (Red) Wetzel, 28, succumbed to injuries. Wetzel, resident of Waskom, Texas, was married, leaving a widow and two children. He was an amateur wrestler.

Coleman Hardy, 30, brother of Thad Hardy, one of those instantly killed, was still alive but was in a critical condition.

J. P. Jones and S. C. Osborn, members of the crew, although only a few feet away from those killed, escaped unhurt.

Clyde Honey, 28, was the third victim.

SHREVEPORT, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Officials of the Dixie Gas and Fuel company were investigating the cause for an explosion at Jaybird Thicket, near Bethany, La., station of the company which killed two men and critically injured two others yesterday. The dead were Thad Hardy, 26; Clyde Haney, 28, and the injured, W. A. (Red) Wetzel, 28, and Coleman Hardy, 30.

The men were at work tying in a gas lines from the Moore No. 3 well into the main line, when the explosion occurred.

Desire Penalty Be Inflicted But Not For Holding

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The forward passing combination of Edward Witt and his milkman, Aaron Swanson, apparently has struck a snag.

"I don't know all the football rules," Witt told the magistrate, "but that milkman was offside or something and I want him penalized two yards of window pane."

For weeks the two had been practicing. Each morning the milkman, with unerring air, passed a quart of milk some 20 feet from the street to Witt, who always caught the toss without a miss. All of this happened each morning just as Witt was leaving for work. Yesterday, however, Witt was late in leaving for work. As he started from the door, he charges, his daily quart came crashing through the window.

Witt asked for and received a warrant for Swanson.

TESTIMONY OPENS TRIAL WOMAN FOR DEATH OF HUSBAND

GREENVILLE, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Taking of testimony in the trial of Mrs. Bertha Gambrell, charged with murder in connection with the death of her husband, Bascom E. Gambrell, was well under way in district court here today.

Mrs. W. F. Cobb of Amarillo, Gambrell's mother, and Dr. J. J. Handley of Greenville were on the witness stand this morning. Mrs. Cobb told of letters alleged to have been written by her to Mrs. Gambrell while Gambrell was ill at her home in Amarillo several months preceding his death. She said Gambrell was only slightly ill while at her home and that he became seriously sick when he returned to his home in Greenville.

Dr. Handley testified he treated Gambrell for kidney trouble and said in his opinion he was afflicted with euremic poison when he died. On cross-examination he said symptoms of euremic poison and arsenic trioxide poisoning were similar, and said if arsenic had been found in Gambrell's viscera after his body was exhumed it probably contributed to the cause of death.

Mrs. Cobb testified with feeling and when asked about her attitude toward Mrs. Gambrell, she half stood and said:

"How do you expect me to like that woman when she killed my son."

WOODCOCK CALLED BACK WASHINGTON FROM COAST TRIP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock was ordered to return to Washington from the Pacific coast to furnish Attorney General Mitchell with information bearing on prohibition appropriations and to furnish data requested by President Hoover.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Prohibition Director Amas W. W. Woodcock has been summoned to Washington to confer with Attorney General Mitchell on pending matters of a routine nature within his bureau.

Reports that he had been called to the capital by President Hoover were officially denied today, and this statement was made at the justice department.

Woodcock in San Francisco yesterday cancelled arrangements for a voyage to Honolulu after receiving a long distance phone cal from Washington, and prepared to return at once.

At the justice department, it was said several pending questions awaited settlement and it was desired they be disposed of before Woodcock went far away from Washington as Honolulu.

The prohibition director reached the west coast in the course of a nation-wide tour of inspection devoted to an examination of organization conditions in the enfrecement service.

Frank Hawks After N. Y.-Havana Mark Hops Off Thursday

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Stopping here 23 minutes to refuel, Captain Frank Hawks took off from the municipal airport at 2:37 p. m. (EST) today in continuation of his attempted record breaking flight from New York to Havana. He planned to stop again at Miami before continuing to the Cuban capital.

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., Nov. 6.—(AP)—An hour after he had started on a speed flight to Havana, Cuba, Captain Frank M. Hawks returned to Cutriss airport this morning to have an adjustment made on his motor. He remained only a moment and took off again for Havana at 8:50 a. m. (EST).

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Captain Frank M. Hawks hopped off from Curtis field at 7:45 a. m. (EST) today on a flight to lower the speed record for airplanes between New York and Havana, Cuba.

He expects to cover the 1,600 miles in less than seven hours with 15 minuts stops at Columbia, S. C., and Miami, Fla., for fuel.

The present record for the New York-Havana flight is 14 housr, set by the late Wilmer Stultz in the monoplane Columbia in March 1928 with Mabel Boll and Charles A. Levine as passengers. That was a non-stop flight.

STORM DAMAGES SHIPPING

PALERMO, Italy, Nov. 6.—(AP)—A violent storm in the Tyrrhenian sea has done enormous damage to shipping. The sailing vessel Santa Anna II was lost with three sailors and the English freighter, Seven Seas Trader, and the Italian freighter Nueva Felice were driven aground. Regular passenger services were delayed.

TUNNEY DENIES HE PROMISED BIG CUT TO TIMOTHY MARA

BOXING PROMOTER SUING RETIRED CHAMPION FOR HALF MILLION DOLLARS

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight boxing champion of the world, denied today on the witness stand that he had offered Timothy J. Mara a contract for 2 per cent of his earnings as champion of Mara would overcome opposition of the boxing commission and bring the bout to New York.

Tunney, testifying in Mara's $500,000 suit against him for alleged breach of contract, recounted telephone conversations he had from Hollywood with Billy Gibson, his manager in New York, in which Gibson informed him Mara was demanding a cut.

Emory Buckner, Tunney's attorney, asked him if any of these negotiations or talks about percentage had taken place in Mara's office, as Mara himself testified on the stand the other day in recounting the conversations between him and Tunney.

"Absolutely not," Tunney replied.

The names of several powerful politicical leaders were brought into the case today through introduction of telegrams and letters exchanged by Gibson and Tunney and the latter's recollection of several telephone calls.

John J. McCooey, democratic leader of Brooklyn: Edwar J. Flynn, Tammany leader of the Bronx and secretary of state; Alfred E. Smith, then governor; James J. Farley, democratic state chairman and head of the boxing commission all were mentioned at various times in the letters or telegrams which spoke on the methods used to obtain their support for the Tuney-Dempsey battle.

MAXIM LITVINOFF DECLARES WORLD IS FACING WAR MENACE

of the press section stampeded for the exit where copies of Litvinoff's remarks were being distributed.

The American delegate remained silent throughout today's opening meeting of the preparatory commisison.

Procedure Discussed.

Lord Cecil of Great Britain, Count Von Bernstorff of Germany, Naotake Sato of Japan, Litvinoff and Chairman Laudon occupied the session with a discussion of the method of procedure. Count Von Bernstorff and Chairman Loudon wished to continue where the commission left off at its last sitting eighteen months ago without reopening questions already settled.

Litvinoff, however, derided the idea and declared that the passage of eighteen months could not be ignored. Lord Cecil wished to proceed with final and third reading of the draft convention.

The commission has been trying for five years to complete this draft convention for submission to a general disarmament conference. It finally was agreed in principle that questions formerly settled should not be reopened, except at the discretion of the chairman.

Before adjourning the first sitting, the commisison agreed to ist each morning from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m., leaving the afternoon open for private conversations and exchange of views.

SAVINGS DEPOSITS INCREASED DESPITE DEPRESSION PERIOD

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—(AP)—In the midst of the business depression, savings deposits in American banks and trust companies increased $267,180,000 in the year ended June 30, to a total of nearly $28,485,000,000, the highest figure on record, the American Bank Association announced today.

This contrasts with a loss of $195,305,000 in the year ended June 30, 1929. The total number of depositors reported was 52,769,175, a gain of 5,048 over last year.

W. Espey Albig, deputy manager of the association explains the rise in part on the basis of conditions in industry and employment.

"When conditions in industry and employment are not satisfactory," he said, "there is a tendency on the part of those whose income is derived largely from wages to go to extreme lengths in safeguarding themselves financially. They deposit most of their income in the savings departments of banks. If the depression is long continued, these deposits are slowly but gradually withdrawn."

Of the Southern states, increases were registered in Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Kentucky and Tennessee, but the total recession amounted to $56,986,000. Virginia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Kentucky and Tennessee reported more depositors, but the sectional decline was $83,790.

SLAYER OF THREE PREPARES TO TAKE DEATH CHAIR TRIP

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 6—(AP)—Luz G. Arcos of Hondo, given death for murder in connection with the slaying of three members of the Barrientes family in the little Medina county town on Christmas Day two years ago, today made ready to take his seat in the electric chair shortly after midnight.

Unless Gov. Dan Moody intervenes, and he has said he would not, Arcos was to satisfy the law for his crime. The shooting was said to have followed an argument about a bottle of milk, whether it was fresh or sour.

Arcos was granted three respites, the last so his sanity could be tested. He was given a sanity hearing and the jury found him sane.

Arcos was calm today and had nothing to say.

NATIONAL FIELD REPRESENTATIVE OF RED CROSS HERE

MRS. GRACE ASHBAUGH MET WITH ANNUAL ROLL CALL WORKERS THURSDAY

Mrs. Grace Ashbaugh, national field representative of the American Red Cross, visiting the Navarro county chapter, spoke to a number of the members interested in the roll call on the mezzanine floor of the Navarro hotel Thursday morning, and in the course of her talk outlined the various activities of the organization, and concluded by leading a round-table discusion of ways the roll call will be put on in the county this year.

Before Mrs. Ashbaugh spoke Pat Brown gave a resume of plans outlined for the drive this year, which were later discussed at length by the national field representative.

Opening her talk, Mrs. Ashbaugh stated that the two principal activities taken care of by the American Red Cross are relief and rehibilitation work during and following disasters and caring for the needs of ex-service men of all wars the United States has partaken in.

"It is hard enough for able-bodied men to get work at present," she declared, "but it is practically impossible for disabled soldiers to find employment, so it is up to the Red Cross to take care of them."

Large Sums Needed.

Mrs. Ashbaugh pointed out that the national budget has been set at $4,042,000, but that present conditions point to the fact that even more money than that will be needed during the ensuing year. She declared that during the past fiscal year relief work has been done in 90 major disasters, and continued rehabilitation work in 21 disasters of previous years.

At this point, Mrs. Ashbaugh discussed plans with the Navarro county representatives for the roll call, after which she spoke extensively on methods of national publicity. According to the field representative, newspapers are furnished with mat and rotogravure material; slides are shown in moving picture show houses, and radio talks are made.

Those attending the meeting Thursday included: Pat Brown, Wilbur Wright, Andrew G. Steele, Miss Dorothy Drane, Mmes. B. Zadek, Sidney Story, R. B. Mitchell and S. H. Burnett.

PRISON MADE SHOES OFFERED STATE FOR ITS INSTITUTIONS

AUSTIN, Nov. 6. —(AP)— Lee Simmons, manager of the Texas state prison system, visited the governor and members of the board of control, reporting on the progress of work at the penitentiary and farms, and soliciting the board of control contracts on shoes for the state institutions.

The board completed several contracts with Simmons and other representatives of the prison system for order of shoes, which are made in the prison. The contracts were competitive, the prison system award being made on a basis of price and quality, according to the board.

Simmons said he had just

Rickenbacker Gets Congressional Medal Years After War

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—America's world war ace—Captain Edward V. Rickenbacker—today was presented by President Hoover with the Congressional Medal of Honor, highest military award of the government.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)— started clearing 239 acres of timber land on the Ferguson farm, to add to the 30,000 acres of cultivated land used last season. Right now, he said, he is seeking a buyer for the timber, which is of little use for other than firewood.

While not familiar with that phase of the prison's activities, Simmons said he presumed that prison directors planned to go ahead with their plans for a printing plant, which would compete for state printing contracts.

Twelve years after the war captain Edward V. Rickenbacker, America's leading World War ace, came today to the capital to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor.

An elaborate ceremony was prepared to surround presentation of the medal by President Hoover this afternoon before a notable group of fliers. They assembled at Bolling Field, the army's air base here, to honor the man who was credited with 26 victories in the air on the Western front.

F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aeronautics, was to preside at the ceremony.

"DOUBTING THOMAS" ANSWERS DAY'S MOOD OF UNCERTAINTY

Preeent Rampant Religious Scepticism Seen In Light of Experience of Questioning Disciple —"Doubt Your Doubts and Believe Your Beliefs.'

In what may losely be called "intelectual circles" today, religous scepticusm is a prevailing fashion. One of the real tragedies of countless homes is the fact that thousands of sons and daughters are coming out of college scoffing at the faith of their fathers. All of the publication favored by our day's "intelligenzia" reek with unbelief in Christianity and in God. Doubt is as popular as miniature golf.

So it is timely that the millions of the Sunday School are assigned this week the story of Thomas, the disciple of Jesus whose name has been taken by "doubting Thomases." By the way, Thomas, like its Greek equivalent, "Didymus," simply means "twin." Early Christian tradition says that the apostle's real name was Judas, and that he is called "The Twin" to distinguish him from the other Judas. We wonder about the twin brother: who and what was he? One name attributed to him is Eliezer. Did he also become a disciple of Jesus; or did he share his brother's congenial spirit of doubt. without his capacity for faith? Or was he, as one old belief has it, not a brother but a sister, Lysias? Thomas is supposed to have been born in Antioch.

What Became of Thomas.

Thomas himself early slips out of the story of the Apostolic church. But such as he could not be idle. Tradition makes him one of the missionary apostles. He journeyed eastward from Jerusalem and for yeare preached the good news in Parthia, which is today southeastern Russia.

Other tradition, and the firm belief of the Christians in southeast India, is that this apostle to the Persians was the founder of Christianity among the Persians and Parthians in India. At Malabar they still call themselves "Christians of St. Thomas." It is said that Thomas was martyred in India, and the shrine marking the spot sill stands on Mt. St. Thomas, near Madras; where a very ancient cross a Persian inscription is shown. The Nestorians regard Thomas as their special saint..

Certainly, if any credence may be attached to the stories concerning Thomas which have come down from early times, his intellectual hesitancy did not extend to his Christian activities. Once sure he was right, he went ahead.

In Credulous Age.

Scepticism is more honorable than credulity. In the Gospel record, Thomas appears as a hero, rather than as otherwise. His hard-headed determination to know the truth for himself has made all Christianity his debtor. As Saint Augustine said, "He doubted that he might not doubt." Thomas possessed the "scientific spirit" long before that phrase was known. His zeal to discover truth at first hand makes him a progenitor of real scholarship.

Thomas had little in common with our current mood of glib atheism. As I think back upon all the infidels I have met I do not recall a single one who was a real scholar or an intelligent seeker after religious truth. They were rather mere rebels and non-conformers, frivolously glorying in the inconoclasm; but wholly unfamiliar with the great body of results of scholarly research in the realm of religion. The cheap godlessness and ribald atheism of our time cannot claim any kinship with the reverent, open-souled greateness of Thomas.

In truth, it is credulity that gives followers to the unthinking ranters on soap-boxes and in professors' chairs. Students are too ready to heed machine-made and helf-baked callow teachers. while casting aside, without consideration, the ripe wisdom and experience of their own forbears.

Our whole modern mood is one of gulliblity. Any quack proclaiming "new" nostrums in religion or medicine or sociology can quickly get a following. Let us confess that we are over-prone to follow the crack-pots in politics and philosophy. Just as visitors to county fairs are still being gulled by the very same claptrap and fake devices that have fooled generations of the credulous and ignorant, so we go on eccepting the infidel doctrines of the merely noisy and sensational teachers. 8homas does not belong in this company.

An Honest Man and His Soul.

An honest man must keep faith with his own soul. If he fails in integrity—lends allegiance where his soul does not consent; conforms merely for convenience—then he is doomed, in all that imparts manhood to man. Nobody, least of all one's own real self, can yield respect to the person, who, for prudential reasons, is concerned first of all to be "regular," in religion, in politics and in social life. Thomas is an example to all who would conserve their own highest loyalties.

Up in the Northwest, a few days ago, a grief-stricken father sought to shoot the college professor who had destroyed his daughter's faith, and so unsettled her life that she died. That is rather drastic treatment for the many modern teachers who think it "smart" and "liberal" and "modern' to show doubts in the minds of their pupils. Personally, I believe such men are a greater social menace than the bootleggers who sell poison liquor. Their tawdry unbelief is not to be classed with the open-minded, truth-seeking doubts of Thomas.

Thomas took his doubt out into the open, and sincerely sught their satisfaction. That is a far different thing from making a cult or a creed out of disbelief. Honest doubt has ever been one of the most useful handmaidens of faith. Yet we may not expect God to heed all trivial inquiries about things beyond our understanding; "papaase questions,' John Eliot called them.

"Judge not the Lord by feeble sense
But trust him for grace."
"God is His own interpreter.
And He will make it plain."

To "believe your beliefs and doubt your doubts" is sound sense. When questions arose with slow-thinking Thomas, he took them to Jesus himself.

He Saw His Face.

Despairing Thomas was not with the disciples when the resurrected Jesus first appeared to them. Ah, what we miss by absenting ourselves from the brotherhood! So he insisted that he must prove the reality of the risen Lord by the sense of touch, by putting his own fingers into the nail-prints.

But he did no such thing, when Jesus Himself appeared. One glance at the dear familiar face was enough. No study of detailed evidence was necessary in the presence of the Master. "My Lord and my God!" cried the reverent and relieved disciple. Jesus was ready to meet all tests; but Thomas needed none while looking upon that face, and hearing those loved tones.

Offended with Thomas? Not Jesus: he knew the man and the character that underlay all questioning. Doubless Jesus, most loyal of friends Himself, must have loved Thomas especially for the sturdy words spoken when the company once turned their faces toward danger at Jerusalem: "Let us also go, that we may die with Him." That is the picture of Thomas we should keep to the fore; the brave friend, willing to go to death in steadfast fidelity to his Leader.

"I have a life with Christ to live,
But, ere I live it, must I wait
Till learning can clear answer give
Of this and that book's date?

"I have a life in Christ to live,
I have a death in Christ to die;
And must I wait till Science give
All doubts a full reply?

"Nay, rather, while the sea doubt
Is raging wildly round about,
Questioning of life and death and sin,
Let me but creep within 8hy fold, O Christ, and at thy feet
Take but the lowest seat,
And hear Thine awful voice repeat
In gentlest accents, heavenly sweet,
"Some unto Me and rest;
Believe Me and be blest."

"NOW I EAT WHAT I LIKE," POPULAR WOMAN DECLARES

One after another, men and women all over the South and West are coming right out in public to tell others about this simple method to end indigestion and the gas, bloating, heartburn, headaches, etc., it causes.

Just the other day, Mrs. Rita Myers, popular young mother, of 2125 North Pearl St., Dallas, Texas, enthusiastically declared: "At last I have found real relief for indigestion. I eat what I like now without fear of that old, heavy feeling of stuffiness or of heartburn, gas and sour belching.

"I suffered with indigestion for two years; tried soda and many other things for it without success. But a few tablets of Pape's Diapepsin convinced me it was just the thing I needed. The stuffy feeling, heartburn, gas, and sour belching after meals just disappeared. Our doctor got me started taking it."

Pape's Diapepsin is perfectly harmless; will not form any habit. Get a box from your druggist; and next time something disagrees, chew one of the candy-like tablets. See how the burning or pain disappears! If you wish to try them before buying, write "Pape's Diapepsin," Wheeling, W. Va., for a FREE sample box.

LOUISIANA VOTERS APPROVE BUILDING PROGRAM OF LONG

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Governor Huey P. Long's $100,000,000 public improvement program provided for in eight constitutional amendments was approved by the voters of Louisiana yesterday by overwhelming majorities.

The largest vote was cast for amendment No. 1 creating $68,000,000 for paved roads and bridges by bonding part of the present gasoline tax. Other amendments provided for issuance of $5,000,000 of bonds to build a new state house at Baton Rouge, and authorized communities to grant a five-year tax exemption to new industries.

By heavy votes, Governor Long's two allies, Paul Maloney and J. O. Fernandez were elected to the house of representatives over their republican opponents in the second and first districts. Fernandez will replace Representative James O'Connor in congress and Maloney will take the seat of Representative J. Zach Spearing, the incumbents failing of renomination in the democratic primary.

Governor Long was elected to the United States senate as successor to Senator Joseph E. Ransdell without opposition in the general election. The six other democratic members of the house of representatives also were elected without opposition.

FOUR KILLINGS MARRED KENTUCKY ELECTION TUESDAY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Kentucky's votes were counted today after an election marred by four killings at polling places. The state's new election law provides that tabulation of the ballots begin the day after the election.

Those killed in election shootings include dthree white men and a negro. Magistrate Boyd Bingham and Hampton Smith, farmer, were killed in a shooting affray on Stinking creek, near Barxourville. Officers were seeking Smith's son, William, who they said shot Bingham after Bingham had killed his father.

Ward Hatfield, farmer, was shot and killed at Phelps, near Pikeville. Officers arrested Elias Dotson, who, they said. had previously had trouble with Hatfield. Both were election workers. Adam Potter, game warden and former deputy sheriff, was shot and seriously wounded at Elkhorn. Booker Wright was being sought for questioning.

At Danville, Ed Doneghy, negro, was shot and killed by Joe Hayden, democratic worker.

CAPONE TIPOFF SENDS POLICE TO PLACE TOO LATE

CHICAGO. Nov. 5.—(AP)—An anonymous telephone call sent a police scurrying to a rooming house on South Halsted street last night to apprehend Al Capone, gangland ruler.

Capone and Ted Newberry, whom the tipster had informed would be with his new chief, were not present, but officers seized 13 men and six revolvers.

Among those apprehended were Frankie Rio, "public enemy" and reputed bodyguard and companion of Capone during a jail term in Philadelphia, and Ronald V. Libonati. leading on the basis of early returns in the race for state representative in the 7th district. Libonati said the information which led to the raid was given by political foes.

The men were busy tabulating election returns from a radio when the officers demanded entrance. Police said they learned Capone and Newberry had been at the place shortly before the raid.

Aged Native Texan Died in Athens On Friday; Loved Here

Mrs. Jerome Richardson was called from the bedside of her daughter, Mrs. O. E. Scarborough, to attend the funeral of Jim Richardson, grandfather of Mrs. Scarborough, who passed away in Athens at noon Friday.

Mr. Richardson was 78 years of age, and had resided in Texas all his life. His father settled at the present site of Corsicana, then known as Murphy's Colony. At that time it was not uncommon for herds of buffalo to be seen and hunted on Post Oak Creek, and Indians to give the settlers at all times.

Mr. Richardson followed his wife in death by four years and four months.

VICE PRESIDENT SAYS ELECTION TO AID REPUBLICANS

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The nationwide victory of the Democratic party will act as a spur to the Republicans in the presidential drive of 1932, Vice President Charles Curtis said here today.

"We expected the Democrats to be disappointed," he said with a smile, "but it was we Republicans who were disappointed. However, it will only act as a spur to our party in the drive of 1932—they can't beat us in 1932."

Regarding unemployment and the general business depression the vice president was emphatic in his prophecy that "good times were just around the corner." He said he did not expect the prohibition law would be changed or repealed.

Despite the defeat of his party, Mr. Curtis was unusually jovial. Photographers asked him to pose reading election returns from a newspaper.

"Hell, no," he thundered, "I'll turn to the sporting page."

Additional Seats to Be Erected at Tiger Field For Big Game

Additional seats will be erected at Tiger field at once in preparation for the Corsicana-Cleburne claissic here Thanksgiving day, John Pierce, Tiger coach, announced Tuesday.

There will be another section. 100 feet wide, and twelve or fifteen rows high, erected on the western side of the present south side bleachers. The knock-down bleachers now on the site will be moved to the other sides, near the end zones, and will bring the seating capacity of Tiger field to 5500 or 6500, Coach Pierce stated. He said that the reported seating capacity of 5,300 was about 700 too high.

Counting eighteen inches per seat and twelve rows high, the new seats will give 800 additional seats for this game.

A huge throng will be on hand for the Thanksgiving day classic, and thousands will be on hand for the annual tussle. Cleburne will be intent on maintaining the jinx over the Corsicana Tigers, while the fast-stepping and powerful Bengals will be fighting mad to break and shade the Cleburne jinx which has hovered over them for three years in a row.

Coach Pierce also stated that there would be reserved seats for the Thanksgiving day melee, about 400 on each side of the field.

Three Drowned As Automobile Leaves Bridge

WASHINGTON, North Carolina, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Three persons were drowned when an automobile plunged through an open draw bridge into Wilkinson's creek, five miles from Leechville last night.

The dead are: Ike Dunbar, 45, Ryde county farmer; his son, 14, and Polly Spencer, Belhaven, negro.

No bodies had been recovered early today.

CHICAGO GANGSTER DE LUXE BARGAINS WITH AUTHORITIES

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—(AP)—There will be no "peace treaty" with Alfonse Capone, gang leader, Chicago authorities let it be known today.

Their attitude wae revealed following reports that the gangster leader had offered to quit labor racketeering, surrender on a vagrancy warrant, and then leave Chicago in exchange for no interference with his beer business and dismissal of the vagrancy charge following his surrender. It met with a prompt rejection.

"Such a trade," said Chief Justice John P. McGoorty, who revealed the proposition in his charge to the November grand jury, "is unthinkable," adding that "there must not be any compromise with lawlessness."

As a result of the judge's revelations the racket investigating department of the state's attorney's office began an inquiry, summoning Michael Calvin, an official of the Teamsters' union for questioning. This action followed a statement by Judge M[illegible]ty t[illegible] a, "high official of the teamsters' union" had carried the Capone proposal to him.

Capone is No. 1 on the list of "public enemies" named by the Chicago crime commission which is attempting to stop the activities of gangsters by having them arrested as vagrants.

MOODY TELLS STORY OF POLITICAL ENTRY AS RETIREMENT NEAR

ACTIVITIES OF KU KLUX KLAN SENT YOUNGSTER TO GOVERNORSHIP

By PAUL BOLTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Watching the election returns which will take him out of public life roll in, Governor Dan Moody bid a tentative farewell to politics today.

In a reminiscent mood, mingled with relief at the impending end of executive worries and regret at leaving public life, the governor told the story of how a twenty-six year old attorney "accidentally" drifted into politics.

That was ten years ago, when he was elected county attorney at Taylor, his home town. A committee came to Moody and asked him to run, pledging him the united support of lawyers. Two weeks later, before Moody had asked any man to vote for him, his opponent withdrew.

The Ku Klux Klan was at that time struggling to gain a foothold in Texas, and ingrained enmity to the Klan's practices was the deciding factor which finally carried Moody to the governor's chair.

A klan organizer came to Taylor and asked the county attorney and another citizen to aid him.

"He told us frankly of the whippings," Moody recalled, "and we told him we didn't need anything like that in Taylor." But the organizer was not easily intimidated. He found others more amenable and the Klan was organized. One morning a friend met Moody at the door of his office.

"What do you think of the Klan?" this friend asked.

"I think it incipient anarchy," Moody replied. "Why? Are you a member?"

"I was until last night, when I resigned. They talked about your enmity to the Klan at the meeting, and they are looking for a lawyer to oppose you for reelection."

Goes to Klan Leader.

Moody is red headed. He learned the name of the Klan leader and went to him.

"Now you haven't got much of a klan in Taylor," he said. "You probably couldn't get a lawyer to run against me. So I'm going to enlarge the territory from which you may draw your candidate, and run for district attorney."

Meanwhile, Ben Robinson, district attorney and a cousin of Moody, resigned from office, and without Moody's knowledge, Governor Pat Neff appointed Moody to succeed him. Moody said he learned this when he read headlines in the Austin American-Statesman.

Even with Austin to draw upon, the Klan did not find a suitable candidate and again Moody was elected without opposition.

The Klan, which had decided him to run for district attorney, also decided him to run for attorney general. While prosecuting attorney, the Klan was accused of floggings in Taylor. The cases were prosecuted at Georgetown.

Attracted Little Notice

At first the trial attracted little notice. Moody observed that the correspondent for several of the larger state newspapers was sending out only about 100 words daily on the trial. The Klan had become almost an obsession with Moody, and he believed the issues were of importance to all Texas. He went to the correspondent.

"Now if you'll send it out," he told her, "I'll write a summary of the day's testimony every evening. If your papers refuse to pay the tolls, Ill pay them myself."

"And," he added in an aside to newspapermen today, "if you will get the files of the papers of that time, you won't find Dan Moody's name mentioned. I wasn't trying to boost Dan Moody. I was fighting the Klan."

The plan worked so well that at the second of these trials, there were as many newspaper correspondents present as there were jurors.

Chronicle Takes Up Moody.

The Houston Chronicle first suggested Moody for attorney general. When he started to make the fight, "I was about the only person in Texas who thought I could be elected." But he was elected, and most of his support came from supposedly strong Klan districts. The rest of his story is familiar to most Texans—his differences with James and Miriam Ferguson, his prosecution of the American Road Company suit, and finally his election as governor.

While saying he was "leaving politics,' like all good politicians, Governor Moody would not say that meant he would never seek office again. He will practice law in one of three cities. He feels that ten years in office precludes him from seeking another elective post. Borrowing a phrase from a contemporary political writer, "the people are not capable of sustained emotion," necessary to keep one man in popular favor.

The emotion which swept him into four successive offices had dwindled away, he believes, adding that this has been true with most of the nation's prominent public servants.

Should Be Trained.

His philosophy of politics, gleaned in ten years in office, centers around the belief that men should be trained for the business of state, and should not be discarded after a temporary period of service.

"The business of running a state," he said, "is different from any other business. It is wrong to train a man for this business and then discard him in favor of an inexperienced person. It is equally wrong to put an inexperienced man in politics and expect an outstanding success."

One outstanding example, in Moody's opinion, is President Hoover, "a great administrator," who had had to "bear up under all the backwash."

This philosophy would seem inconsistent with his decision to leave politics—at least temporarily—but the governor has one other reason. He has to pay the debts incurred in trying to live within the governor's salary.

"If you don't think I should get out and start earning a living," Moody told a correspondent who commented on this seeming discrepancy, "you should consult my banker."

Following which the governor, soon to be plain "Mister Moody," got his hat and started to Taylor to vote the straight Democratic ticket.

IN MEMORY OF RUBEN L. SHEETS

Oh! Ruben, while this old world groans,
With sorrow and pain,
We do not pray for your return,
For we know that you sleep
And you know not its cares,
But we miss your glad smile,
And your warm hand shake,
Since the days we were boys,
And played in your mother's backyard—
To the years of full manhood,
A better pal than you I never had,
You are gone—and friends unnumbered,
Listen in vain for your cheerful word,
Only God can heal the heart,
Of a little grey mother broken with grief;
A dear sweet wife torn with sorrow,
Oh! We pray for the happy day,
When our Saviour awakes you,
And we have again your glad smile,
And your warm hand shake.
—A Friend.

RACKETEER SLAIN IN HOSPITAL BED BY TWO GANGSTERS

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Four men were arrested today as police pursued the slayers of Dominick Passelli, killed last night in a hospital bed, where he had sought to hide from his enemies.

Two of them, police believed, might be the pair who walked quietly past the information desk of the Newark General Hospital, went directly to the obscure room where Paselli was a patient, and killed him instantly with three shots.

The four prisoners were Ralph Russo, pugilist; Harold Corbett and Ernest Fiumja, each 25 and of Newark, and Tony Bove, 39, of New York's Bowery. They were held on open charges.

Paselli, known in the underworld as "The Ape," was called by police a "finger man" in holdups—the advance agent who went ahead of gunmen and spotted their prey. He also had a reputation as a small time beer runner, hijacker and "muscle man."

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 4.—(AP)—A racketeer who sought sanctuary in the private room of the Newark General Hospital was tracked down by two gunmen last night and killed in his bed.

Walking by the information desk without a word, the slayers went directly to the room occupied by John Passelli, known in the underworld as "The Ape," and fired three shots, killing him instantly. They then walked out in the confusion and escaped in an automobile.

Passelli, who had been listed at the hospital as Joseph Caruso, walked into the institution Sunday with a slight scalp wound and bruises. Hospital attaches said he told them he had fallen from an automobile. His injuries were dressed, but he insisted on staying in the institution and asked for a private room.

Police said they believed his injuries were received in jumping from a moving automobile when he realized he was being taken for a ride and that his killers, balked in their first attempt, trailed him to the hospital. Police attributed the killing to New York gangsters, saying Passelli had been attempting to cut in on the New York grape racket by which gangsters levy a tribute on the shipment of grapes.

PRICE FOR TURKEYS EXPECTED TO REMAIN LOW THIS SEASON

With only a slight decline inthe number of turkeys expected to be marketed in Navarro county this season the price being paid is far below that of former years. Local buyers at present are paying 13 cents and little hope is held out for a higher price during this season. There are several important matter that enter into the turkey shipping business this year, it is stated, that tend to keep the price low.

One of the main elements is the unemployment that prevails to a great extent over the north and east, especially in the larger cities, which are the normal markets for Texas turkeys. Carload shipments will nots tart, it is stated, until about Nov. 11, but turkeys are now being bought for the Thanksgiving trade.

OIL SHOWING IS REPORTED IN WELL ON BRADLEY FARM

A burst of excitement ran through Corsicana oil circles late Tuesday afternoon when the rumor that a well had been brought in on the Bradley farm between Rice and Tupelo spread rapidly.

A check on the well showed that drilling had been stopped slightly below 2200 feet when a core was taken and sent to Dallas for analysis. A slight show of oil and gas was found, and drillers on the test believe that the bit is in the upper Woodbine.

The usual shallow production between 800-900 feet was not found in the latest test on the Bradley farm. As soon as the analysis is obtained from a Dallas laboratory, drilling will probably be resumed in the well.

HIGHWAYS OF PROGRESS.

No more appropriate place than the national capital of the United States could have been chosen for the sixth international road congress, for was it not the United States that motorized the world and led the way in modern highway construction?

Highway experts from 60 nations gathered for this congress to learn and counsel in highway construction, maintenance, supervision and financing. It is incredible that nothing notable will come from such a conference.

What is the most important thing the visitors will take back with them from America? It will be the fact that a quarter of a century ago the American people were relatively immobile because they had few improved highways and today are extremely mobile with 600,000 miles of hard-surfaced roads and 26,000,000 motor vehicles. They will return home dreaming of the social and economic revolution such a vast highway program would work in their own countries.

Fundamentally, these highway engineers are the vanguard of modern life, for to a large extent the economic progress of the world for the next few centuries will depend largely upon highway extension. New roads will open new markets, extend the frontiers of western civilization and restore world trade.

THE HOURS WE SLEEP.

Man's day is triple: a workday which has been shortened, a leisure day which has been correspondingly lengthened, and a sleep day which, so far as one is aware, has been neither shortened or lenthened with the progress of mankind.

Undoubtedly greater mental activity, articifical light, entertaining diversions, and the noises and distractions of the city have subtracted somewhat from the sleep period of millions. It may be assumed that civilized man really needs more sleep to knit up "the raveled sleeve of care," for the ravage is greater in his case than in that of the untutored savage.

Science has come to look upon the body as a collection of elements whose reactions determine the physical state of man's being. This has led chemists to consider the diet which may best supply what the body needs and to try to persuade the individual to eat what he ought. These scientists have also learned from ancient and medieval lore the pharmacopoeia of sleep, have added to their list new potencies, and have shared with him who first invented sleep the gratitude of millions of sufferers from insomnia.

But now the proposal is that science shall seek a catalyst that will so resolve and recombine the elements which sleep has alone been able to convert from poisonous to the benign that man may have longer days without lessened years. No other discovery would work such a revolution in human society. It would fatigue the imagination to try to think of the social changes which would follow the discovery of a synthetic substitute for sleep.

It has been assumed that sleep was foreordained as a blessing to mankind. So it has been considered by the poet. But the scientist, still hopelesly materialistic, counts the hours consumed in slumber as so many hours wasted.

And stand sure-footed at the crest
Than to evade the price of time
And at the last be dispossessed.

Stick to your job and learn it well,
Of change for petty gain beware;
Do not a life-long glory sell
For one brief year of morning's fair.
If you are given a task to do
Keep this in mind from day to day,
Success is just as close to you
As to some toiler far away.

Be not content with seeming wise,
The future is a hidden book,
The trout, deceived by gaudy flies
Is caught upon the anglers' hook.
So men from this to that will race
Grasping at every lure they see
But those who walk at slower pace
Make friends with opportunity.

Stick to your job whate'er it be;
The better post is near at hand.
In wisdom lies your destiny;
Success can find you where you stand.
From rung to rung the ladder climb.
Beware the blind, foolhardy leap
Learn from experience and time
And what you gather you shall keep.

UNIFORM AIR RULES.

Where the International Law Association at this year's meeting fell down in promoting world peace and preparing a new set of rules to guide and govern the world in war and pace, it made progress in the formulation of uniform regulations governing air traffic throughout the world.

It found few grounds for agreement among the nations on the more important questions of war and peace, but virtual unanimity of opinion on regulation of aviation. Perhaps this was due to the older traditions of warfare and to the bright business prospects of air transportation.

World peace is a subject of major importance to all the world, but an international air code also is urgent. An intolerable condition of confusion would overtake aviation should it inherit from motor traffic its lack of uniformity of practice.

There is, for example, the apparently simple question as to which is the proper side of the road for driving an automobile. Among the principal nations and colonies, 60 favor the right side and 43 the left. In Europe the motorist must often change his driving side of the road two or three times in the course of a day's driving.

Aviation, knowing no political barriers and having accomplished the annihilation of distance, cannot countenance such petty differences of opinion and practice. There must be no uncertainty as to the right way when two ships pass in the air at from 100 to 200 miles an hour.

FOR THE FARMER.

It is announced that the salvaging of old roads and the building of farm-to-market roads as a farm relief measure, a stimulant to employment, a means of increasing the amount of freight handled by the railroads and a traffic relief aid on congested highways, will be featured subjects at the paving conference to be held in Memphis, Tenn., in December. These problems will be discussed by authorities from American Farm Bureau Federation, American Automobile Association, American Association of Railway Executives and others.

One of the "real" agricultural problems is lack of adequate, year-round road facilities. The average farmer is cut off from the outside world during months of each year by impassable roads which become a series of mud-holes with the first rains.

It has been demonstrated that weather-proof roads can be constructed and maintained in rural districts at a low cost by various processes.

If the coming road conference accelerates secondary road construction, it will have done more for the farmer than theoretical "farm relief" experts.

ANALYZING GENIUS.

Few human beings fail to suspect themselves, at some period of their lives, of being geniuses. Although the idea languishes with time, as many genial illusions are likely to do, enough of it survives to excite curiosity about what this thing called genius really is and about why it happens.

It has been called an infinite capacity for taking pains, but a scientist, who is threatened with the title, deems it just the reverse of this. Genius may be, he thinks, an ability to know when no pains should be taken at all. Certainly there is in genius the much rarer capacity for not taking pains or wasting time over lines of thought that lead nowhere, the capacity of choosing the right course by a clear vision emanating from sound knowledge.

There are some nine billion litle gray cells in that marvelous one-sixth-inch layer on the surface of man's cerebral hemisphere in which takes place what is called thought. To use these gray cells to take pains is a not unusual ability. There are many persons who have busied themselves for a life-time training their little gray cells to be perfectly certain of something, only to discover that the something is unimportant. The far more important and far rarer ability of leaping through all the mass of fact and possibility which the brain cells have recorded to that one possibility which is worth the taking of more pains—that, perhaps, is the essence of genius.

It is a mystery how the brain cells do this, or if it is they that do it at all. But the fact that it can happen is one of the hopeful things about the human race.

BUSINESS AS USUAL.

The Los Angeles Times adequately sums up the present situation editorially as follows: "Our national resources are as great today as they were last year. Our great business organizations are in strong financial condition and our industrial plants are at the highest state of efficient development. Credit is abundant. With the exception of the difficulties that have arisen as a result of the drastic deflation of commodity prices, the business horizon is reasonably clear. All that is lacking is courageous and intelligent effort and confidence in the future of the country. We all know that the present period cannot long endure, yet many good citizens are hesitant and wait for others to show their courage and initiative. If everybody would get into the swim they would all realize how fine it is."

RECONCILIATION

Events of the day are compelling the conscientious to reconcile many old and new ideas, customs, institutions and philosophies. Especially in the more enlightened countries, such as the United States, is this manifest. Reconciling means seeing both sides of a thing and the average American is struggling for justice and broadmindedness.

Official United States has frequently in the recent past actively opposed revolution and usurpation of authority in bordering or distant countries, and yet without revolution there would be no United States today. Our department of state has reasonable excuses for its attitude, but it is interesting to note the reaction of that attitude upon the people of one of the world's nations of a revolution. The American revolution and declaration of independence were conceived for the protection and emancipation of the American colonists, who were the ancestors of the American citizens being protected today from external governmental turmoil and uprising. The perspective means everything.

The motorist and the pedestrian of our congested thoroughfares must reconcile themselves to the rights and privileges of each other. Nothing toward relief can be accomplished unless each class views the situation both from inside the car and from the sidewalk.

America was once the land of hope and the mecca of the oppressed and impoverished of Europe and Asia. There were no restrictions against immigration. The United States became the land of the free, free to all who were free to come. Today thousands in search of freedom and a decent living are being turned back from Ellis Island, unfit for American citizenship. The people who have come from beyond to settle in the new world must be protected from those who come after them. It is right and proper that our government should grant us this protection from foreign infection, physical and mental, and still many Americans are deeply grieved that the opportunity enjoyed by them must be denied to other human beings.

Legislation is a relative matter and a process of reconciling. Tradition and ideals are as paper against the march of time and legislation.

The Height of Futility: "I'll tell you if you give me your word it won't go any farther."

INSPIRATION.

Artistic taste and inspiration approach art from opposite sides, but they mingle in the hearts of children, who like to draw objects as soon as they see them. A grown person may contemplate a statue, a handsome animal, a tall building, or a bird in flight, admire and appreciate the beauty to be found in it, without feeling an irresistible desire to record that grace with his own hand.

Most children, restlessly trying everything that gives an outlet to energy, go through a period of drawing or copying the things that take their fancy. What they like may not be subtle or profound, but it is apt to be lively, suggesting motion, speed and spontaneity, and frequently it is humorous.

It has been observed that many children use the comic pages of the Sunday papers as models in their drawing. All the absurd figures quarreling through the "strips," all the fantastic animals with their more than human expressions, appeal to the childish liking for action and fun. But these are not the best models for cultivating artistic taste and a love for beautiful pictures in the mind of the child.

There is a world of harmless amusement for children in the Sunday "funnies" and the "comics" in the daily papers, but not even those who draw them would recommend them as models for youngsters with the common instincts for drawing. Parents, schools and libraries can do the pencil-weilding child a lasting service by guiding it to the works of the great masters.

Neither can one begin too early to direct the child to good books. The proportion of trash in juvenile reading is probably as large as that in adult reading, and the child who begins with the trash often goes through life without knowing what good literature is.

BOARD OF STEWARDS AND OTHER OFFICERS METHODISTS NAMED

RESOLUTION COMMENDS DR. AND MRS. HALL; SEEK RETURN OF PASTORS

J. N. Royall, vice chairman, presided at the special called meeting of the board of stewards of the First Methodist church Monday night. The attendance was excellent and following a financial report the board voted to meet again in special session Thursday night at 7 o'clock. The report showed much work to be done before the close of the conference year Sunday.

A motion was unanimously adpted by the board commending the work of Dr. J. W. Bergin, the pastor, and Rev. Archie Carraway, director of religious education, for the past year and asked for their return to First Church for another year. The same motion also commended the work done by Dr. A. W. Hall presiding elder in the Corsicana district during the past four years.

Following the meeting of the board the fourth and last quarterly conference was held with Dr. A. W. Hall, presiding, Edgar Metcalf was elected secretary, and reports were made as follows: Dr. J. W. Bergin, covering the work of the church for the year; Rev. Archie Carrawey, covering the work of the Sunday school and religious educational work of the Sunday school; Dr. H. B. Love on the Epworth League; Mrs. Ed S. McGee for the Missionary Society; Sam J. Jackson on lay activities of the church.

The reports were interesting and showed many activities in all departments. In the financial reports from various sources it was shown that the Missionarv Society had raised over three thousand dollars for all purposes, the Sunday school over three thousand dollars for all purposes, over $700 raised for the Methodist orphanage in Waco, over $700 for a missionary to Japan. This is in addition to hospital work, conference collections, etc.

Upon the recommendation of Dr. J. W. Bergin and others the following officers were elected for the new year: H. E. Metcalf, recording steward; T. H. Benton, district steward; F. P. McElwrath, re-elected general Sunday school superintendent; charge lay leader to be elected later; chairman district stewardship, Mrs. W. L. Holman; chairman missionary committee, Mrs. Lawrence Treadwell; cahirman Golden Cross, Mrs. Lanier Walton, board of Christian education (five to be elected), Mrs. Lawrence Treadwell and four others to be named later.

Following is the new board of stewards for the coming year:

Geo. W. Boyd, C. T. Banister E. E. Babers, T. H. Benton, S. W. Burdine, H W. Barton, R. A. Caldwell, H. A. Clowe, Dr. W. W. Carter, E. Y. Cunningham, Dr. J. W. David, Clyde Foster, J. B. Fortson, J T. Fortson, A. E. Foster, W. W. Gage, Guy Gibson, A. E. Haslam, R. L. Houston, C. B. Haley, W. L. Holman, W. M. Huff, J. L. Jackson, R. J. Jackson, S. J. Jackson, Barney Jones, A. N. Justiss, Dr. H. B. Love, Guy Love, F. P. McElwrath, F. E. McPherson, K. L. McKeown, J. M. McGee, Boyce Martin, H. E. Metcalf, R. B. Mitchell, J. S. Murchison, Dr. T. P. McLendon, Donald Marr, Festus Pierce, W. J. Rochelle, J. N. Royal, L. D. Ransom, F. W. Smith, W. J. Selig, W. E. Slaughter, Dr. O. L. Smith, C. R. Steeley, H. R. Stroube, Richard Scott, Ralph Tatum, A. L. Thompson, T. J. Walton, J. Lanier Walton.

The following resolution was adopted by the conference:

Resolution of Appreciation Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Hall.

Whereas; The Reverend A. W. Hall has served the Corsicana District of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, as presiding elder for the past four years with great efficiency and acceptability; and

Whereas; In accordance with the law of the church he will be removed from the presidency of the district by the statue of limitation and will at the ensuing session of the Annual Conference be assigned to some other district or station,—

Therefore Be It Resolved: That as a church official, a citizen, a brother and a friend, he has greatly endeared himself to the pastor and the board of stewards, the membership of the First Methodist church and the citizenship of the City of Corsicana.

That the First Churcsh of Corsicana and the whole district are indebted to him and his good wife for the fine work done for the Sunday schools and the general culture of the church in teacher training and commend and commend them that in this fourth year of their invaluable service, they have led the whole conference in the number of training schools held and also in the number of credits awarded.

That we commend them to Bishop Hay and his cabinet, to the district or station to which they be appointed, with our love, our confidence, appreciation and the prophesy that the great work they have wrought here, and the high esteem in which they are both held, is but an earnest of their reception and accomplishment in the field to which they may be assigned.

Two Practice Games Basketball Will Be Played Y Tonight

Two practice basketball games will be played on the Y. M. C. A. court Wednesday night, it was announced Tuesday by C. F. Broughton, physical director. The Corsicana Triangles will battle the Rice quint, at 6:30, and the young men's cagers will play an all-star team composed of several Navarro county coaches, and star players from last year's teams of Rural Shade and Bryan school at 7:30.

No admission will be charged, and the public is cordially invited to witness the games. Two good basketball games are expected to be seen.

Car Stolen Here Recovered Lufkin And Driver Held

Chief of Police Will S. Knight received a long distance call from Lieut. Garrison of the state highway patrol stating that a car bearinb a Navarro county license was being held at Lufkin along with the driver.

The driver is being held on a charge of burglarizing the State Highway department's warehouse at Lufkin last Monday night, and after standing trial at Lufkin will be returned to Navarro county to face car theft charges. Court is now in session at Lufkin.

The car was owned by E. N. Rylie and had been stolen from Lewis Tidd on October 26. Mr. Rylie left Monday for Lufkin to return the car.

COURTHOUSE NEWS.

District Court

The jury in the case of the State of Texas vs. Marcus Odam, charged by indictment with the alleged violation of the prohibition laws, was still out Tuesday morning. The testimony and argument of the attorneys was completed Monday afternoon and the case went to the jury Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The indictment was returned as a result of a raid conducted by the sheriff's department on West Ninth avenue last year when a barrel of whiskey was said to have been found in a back yard.

The state was represented by W. W. Harris, assistant county attorney, and the defense by Lovett and Lovett and Cleo G. Miller.

EARLY DAY SHERIFF OF NAVARRO COUNTY DIES IN OKLAHOMA

H. P. (Key) West, aged about 75 years, formerly well known citizen of Corsicana and Navarro county, died at his home near Atlus, Okla., a week ago, according to information received here on Tuesday.

Mr. West was sheriff of Navarro county many years ago, and was chairman of the democratic committee that ousted the populists from the political control in Navarro county in 1896. Clay Nash, present county judge, was a cousin of Mr. West's wife, and was secretary of the democratic committee at the time the political control was wrested from the populists.

Mrs. Frank Cheney of Corsicana is a sister of Mrs. West, and a number of other relatives of the family reside in Navarro county.

Teague Baptists In Big Home Coming Observance Sunday

TEAGUE, Nov. 4.—(Spl.)- The Home-Coming Celebration held at the First Baptist church Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 1 and 2, commeorating the thirteenth anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. E. Homer Tirey, proved a wonderful success. Large crowds attended all the services and there were many out-of-town former members present.

A rare musical program was rendered Sunday evening by the church choir and church orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. W. V. Geppert, choir director.

BLOOMING GROVE IS FIRST PAY ENTRANCE FEE TO TOURNAMENT

Blooming Grove high school basketball team has paid its entrance fee to enter the annual Y. M. C. A. Invitation Tournament, that will be held December 12-13, and about eight other class B teams of the county have signified their desire to enter the competition, it was announced Tuesday by C. F. Broughton, Y. M. C. A. physical director. Rice is the defending champion, with Mildred defending second place, and Navarro defending third honors.

Winner of the first three places will be given loving cups, and eight members of the winner of first place will be presented individual trophies by the Y. M. C. A.

Physical director Broughton stated that the last day to register for competition in the tournament will be at noon on Wednesday Dec. 10. The tournament is open only to bonafide class B schools of Navarro county, whose players must have been registered in school not less than 30 days preceding the date of play. The players must have scholastic records indicating that they are carrying four courses, passing in three of them, and averaging a passing grade in the four.

Y. M. C. A. officials are desirous of having the three 1929 winning teams turn in their loving cups at once.

Highway Palestine To Corsicana Part State System Now

According to information received Tuesday by the Corsicana chamber of commerce, the road from Corsicana to Palestine has been officially included as a part of the state highway system and will be known as highway 22, running from Timpson to Comanche via Palestine, Corsicana, Hillsboro and Meridian.

This road was first known as highway 139 and had been conditionally designated as a state highway. Sometime ago the number was changed to highway 22.

Alleged Fugitive Shot By Oklahoma Sheriff Last Night

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 6.—(AP)—A man wounded and captured by Sheriff Stanley Rogers in a gun fight last night was identified today as the man who broke away from officers at Gainesville, Texas, Tuesday after he and a companion had been arrested for an alleged box car robbery earlier in the day.

The man, giving his name as Jim Wilson, was in Oklahoma City hospital, his left leg shattered by a bullet from the sheriff's gun.

Reports of other box car robberies in Texas and Oklahoma were being studied in an effort to connect Wilson with them. One of the reported thefts was at Ponca City.

Rogers said he shot Wilson after Wilson had attempted to escape from a house surrounded by the sheriff and his deputies, and answered a command to halt by firing at the sheriff.

Pilot Point Oil Field Extended By Well on Wednesday

SHERMAN, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Drillers were making preparations today for bringing in the Gray-Texas No. 1 Riley which struck pay sand yesterday, extending the Pilot Point oil field two-thirds of a mile. The hole is at a depth of 1,526 feet. The field is in the corner of Cooke county near the lines of Grayson and Denton counties. It is the first well to make both and oil and gas showing. Hamilton No. 1 Jacobs, the discovery well, is producing 300 barrels while the Hamilton No. 2 Jacobs was being cleaned out after a second shooting and was expected to be a 400-barrel well.

Clothing Received For Distribution to Poor; More Needed

Several bundles of clothing have been received recently by the United Charities organization here, Miss Augusta Helm, secretary, stated Thursday, but there is still a need of children's clothing, and especially children's shoes. Several wood stoves are needed and Miss Helm expressed the hope that people of Corsicana who have them will call the United Charities office.

A board meeting of the organization will be held Friday afternoon at 3:30, in the office, Miss Helm said.

Gale Holds Great Flying Boat Down Amsterdam Harbor

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 6.—(AP)—A gale which kicked up a choppy sea outside the Zuider Zee held the DO-X, giant German flying boat, at Amsterdam today, and prevented continuation of its flight to Southampton.

From Southampton the big ship will go to Havre and Lisbon before taking off on a trans-Atlantic flight to New York.

The DO-X, with 16 persons aboard, came here yesterday from Altenrhein, Switzerland, where its home hangar is located, making the trip in five hours and 20 minutes.

The plane is anchored in Schellingwoulde basin.

GREATER PART OF DISTRESS COTTON BELIEVED RECEIVED

LOCAL BRANCH TEXAS COTTON CO-OPERATIVE BODY GETS MUCH COTTON

A majority of the "distress" cotton or that forced on the market has been handled in the opinion of W. C. Gillean, manager of the Corsicana branch office of the Texas Cotton Co-operative Association, and the greater part of the cotton coming into the marketing body now represents the portion of the land-lords and the independent farmers.

Approximately 18,000 bales of cotton have been handled by the Corsicana office since it was opened in the spring, Mr. Gillean said, and he estimated that the total would run between 20,000 and 25,000 bales before the end of the fiscal year.

The greater portion of the cotton has gone into the seasonal pool; although some have chosen the optional pool, while others have had their cotton classed and are holding it off the market until conditions are more favorable.

Plans are now underway for the office to remain open throughout the year with special attention being given at the end of the active marketing season to acreage reduction, and use of better seed, and membership activities. A large number of farmers in this area have learned the penalty attached to low grade and short staple cotton Mr. Gillean pointed out, although a large number are using a good grade of seed.

With the total reaching 18,000 bales, the office will not need the guarantee underwritten by the citizens of Corsicana before the office was opened according to local officials of the organization.

TEAGUE, Nov. 6.—(Spl.)—Teague has a second new pastor in the person of Rev. L. W. Shivers who has taken the place of Rev. R. W. Bounds as pastor of the First Protestant Methodist church here. Rev. Bounds was placed at a church in Oklahoma.

Rev. A. G. Fitzgerald, former pastor of the Westminster church in Houston, has very recently accepted a call to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church of Teague.

PLAN SEEKING OF APPROPRIATION FOR DROUGHT SUFFERERS

STAMFORD, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Correlation of efforts by the drought committee named by Governor Dan Moody, the West Texas chamber of commerce and West Texas Bankers to obtain an adequate appropriation from the December session of congress was agreed upon yesterday at a meeting here of representatives of the three groups.

The meeting voted to attempt to obtain co-operation of similar committees from other states on the plan. The appropriation would be used to make production loans to farmers, thel oans to be secured by leins on next year's crops.

The West Texas chamber of commerce announced it would send representatives to a meeting of representatives of all the drought affected areas in the middle and southwest territories, to be held soon in St. Louis, and also to aconference called for Nov. 20 in Washington by Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture. A delegation from West Texas also will appear before congress in December.

Soft, wavy hair!

The modern sculptured bobs do wonders to bring out your personality. But like other present-day modes of arranging the hair, they call attention to it. That's why it's so important nowadays to keep your hair soft, lustrous, abundant. The easiest and quickest way to give new lustre and color to hair, which has begun to look dull and lifeless, is with Danderine. And it makes the hair softer, easier to arrange; holds it in place.

Here's all you do. Each time you use your brush just put a little Danderine on it. It removes the oily film from your hair; brings out its natural color; gives it more gloss than brilliantine. Waves "set" with it stay in longer.

Danderine dissolves the crust of dandruff; puts the scalp in the pink of condition. It stops falling hair. A small bottle is enough to show its merit. Start on it tonight.

NAVARRO COUNTY IS STILL STRONGLY FOR DEMOCRATIC TICKET

According to incomplete unofficial returns from the general election held in Navarro county Tuesday as compiled by the Daily Sun, Navarro county went Democratic, Ross G. Sterling, Democratic nominee for governor, receiving an almost eight to one majority over W. E. Talbot, the Republican gubernatorial standard-bearer. Sterling received 2,404 votes to Talbot's 330.

Dresden was the only voting precinct in the county which has been reported going Republican in the gubernatorial race. Sterling received 15 votes while Talbot received 16. However, in the other races, only one Republican vote was cast.

All of the proposed amendments to the constitution of Texas carried in the county on the returns compiled, although in the remaining boxes to be secured there is a good chance that the amendment for the increasing of the pay of the members of the Texas legislature will be defeated, as in the 39 boxes heard from, there were 1,035 for the amendment and 1,015 against it.

The writing in of the name of Jack Megarity, present incumbent and unsuccessful candidate in the Democratic primaries, caused considerable interest in Commissioners' Precinct 1. George W. Boyd received the nomination in the run-off primary against Megarity. Mildred box has not been heard from, but on the returns of the remaining 16 boxes, Boyd was leading, 1,149 as compared with 552 for Megarity, giving the election to Boyd. It was apparent that a determined campaign was waged in the boxes outside of the city of Corsicana, as Megarity received 415 votes to Boyd's 368. In the four wards in Corsicana, Boyd received 781 votes and Megarity 137.

Vote for Commissioner.

Following are the votes in the commissioners' race in precinct 1:

Another Write In

J. H. Derryberry, Democratic nominee for justice of the peace in the Barry precinct, had a narrow escape of being defeated in the general election, the 19 votes he received at Cryer Creek overcoming the vote at Barry. In Barry, Derryberry received only 52 votes while the name of Luke Varnell was written in 63 ballots. From those two voting boxes Derryberry has an advantage of eight votes.

In the Rice box R. A. Edens received 100 votes and A. J. Merrill received 60 votes in the constable's race.

WORTHAM BUSINESS HOUSE ROBBED AND DAMAGED BY FIRE

WORTHAM, Oct. .—(Spl.)—The dry goods store of Peyton Bros. here was burglarized at an early hour Wednesday morning and later set on fire by the robbers. The fire damage was estimated at between $20,000 and $30,000. There is no clue to the burglars as yet.

A screen door in the rear of the Simmons Dry Goods Company was found cut Wednesday morning, but the would-be burglars failed to gain an entrance.

Texas Boy is Strongest

"MY son, Billie, suffered from constipation until he was quite feverish and weak," says Mrs. Albert Reinle, 6943 Lindsley Ave., Dallas.

"Now it's a different story as you can see from his picture. He's strong and full of life. I gave him California Fig Syrup because mother always used it with me. It increased his appetite, helped him wonderfully. Billie loves the taste of California Fig Syrup, and it never fails to help his stomach and bowels."

To show how California Fig Syrup acts to build up and strengthen half-sick, headachy, constipated children through giving tone and strength to weak stomach and bowels, nothing could be more convincing than praise like this.

Your doctor will approve the use of this pure vegetable product—as often as an impure breath, coated tongue, listlessness, feverishness or lack of appetite warn of constipation—or to keep bowels from clogging during colds or children's diseases.

When buying, look for the word California on carton and bottle. That marks the genuine.

Planning Special Train To Temple For Football Game

Preparations were going forward Tuesday to organize a special train to take Corsicana football fans to Temple on Nov. 14, when the Corsicana and Temple high school football teams clash. The round trip price has been set at $2, which is fifty cents less than the same trip last year.

It has not been decided at what time the train will leave Corsicana, but it will leave Temple on the return trip at 6:30, and arrive in Corsicana at 9:30, it was stated. A large delegation of high school students and Corsicana football fans will make the trip.

UNEMPLOYMENT IS DISCUSSED TUESDAY BY CHAMBER BOARD

An unemployment survey, quarterly financial report and other matters of interest were presented to the board of directors of the Corsicana chamber of commerce at the regular bi-weekly meeting Tuesday morning.

The financial report showed that the chamber had a small cash balance on Nov. 1, with one outstanding voucher, a quarters' dues receivable and about $500 in delinquent dues.

W. P. McCammon, chairman of the membership committee, presented the applications of the Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil company and Simon Daniels, and they were elected to membership. Four resignations were announced since the last meeting.

F. A. Pierce and T. C. Orr, representing the Corsicana Civitan Club, appeared before the directors suggesting a survey of the industries using common labor, and attempting to estimate the probable amount of unemployment which will confront Corsicana during the winter months. A "stagger" system was suggested for odd jobs and short time employment at various tasks.

Members of the board suggested that any work that might be done now could possibly be done at a savings. The matter was referred to Ted B. Ferguson and members of the industrial committee.

Poultry Show Presented

Jack Megarity and H. B. Bomar asked the assistance of the chamber in financing the annual poultry show, emphasizing the necessity of continuing the fair in order to maintain Corsicana as the site for a county fair. Calvin Pigg, county agent, recommended any assistance that might develop better livestock and poultry in the county.

Information concerning the Nacogdoches poultry show was presented to the directors for consideration. The final discussion of the matter was delayed until the close of the meeting.

The directors authorized the compilation of facts necessary to enter Corsicana in the inter-chamber public health conservation contest, after an assurance from Mrs. Conrad Matthews that the move would not encroach but would assist the work of the public health nursing board.

Attention of the directors was called to the fact that through the intervention of the chamber the bus schedules between Corsicana and Hillsboro had been maintained even after ordered discontinued by the railroad commission. The president reported that he had emphasized at the county institute that the chamber was interested in education as he presented loving cups to various schools.

Publicity received at the all-East Texas Products dinner by Corsicana products was recounted to the directors. The fact that the findings of the retail trade survey were now available and announced.

The directors agreed to commend the annual poultry show, but offered no financial assistance, and did not name a committee to assist in raising the funds.

A. G. Elliott called the attention of the directors to the Salvation Army campaign which opens this week.

Among those attending the meeting were R. L. Hamilton, W. P. Brown, Ted Ferguson, W. P. McCammon, J. M. Dyer, A. G. Elliott, Lowry Martin, J. E. Butler, C. L. Jester, E. M. Polk, W. O. Harwell, Sydney Marks, H. B. Bomar, Charles Willmann, F. A. Pierce, T. C. Orr, J. N. Edens, R. L. Wheelock, F. N. Drane, and Calvin Pigg.

NEED OF CLOTHING AND SHOES STRESSED BY UNITED CHARITIES

The need of children's clothing, and especially children's shoes has increased during the past week at the office of the Corsicana United Charities, according to Miss Augusta Helm, secretary. Miss Helm asks people of Corsicana who have old clothing to communicate with her, and she will see that the articles are placed where most needed. A number of calls for groceries and medicine have been received at the office.

At a recent meeting of the Southwestern Conference of Social Welfare, in Dallas, that Miss Helm attended, transient families were discussed, and it was found that many of them go from one state to another begging money, which is ultimately used to buy gasoline. Representatives from five states identified numerous people who have gone from one state to another begging. It was decided that each state would co-operate in identifying the transients, and locate their counties before giving aid. If the transients are not taken care of by their home counties, the town in which they are at the time will care for them. Miss Helm urges people of the city to refrain from giving money to transients, before they have been investigated by the United Charities office.

In the course of one week Miss Helm said, 10 local families applied for aid, and five transient families asked for gasoline. She said that it was the wish of the United Charities for people not to give money to persons who represent themselves as being in need of aid, but to co-operate with the United Charities offices and in turn with the Southwestern Conference Social Welfare, and see that aid was given where most needed.

From the advance calls for help, Miss Helm predicted a strenuous winter on the Charities, and said that extensive preparations are being made to help the needy people who apply for aid.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE LOCAL LEGION POST OFFICIALLY OPENED

The Johnson Wiggins Post No. 22, American Legion membership drive officially opened Tuesday morning at 10:30, and reports turned in at headquarters indicated that the campaign would be successful, it was announced Tuesday afternoon by A. L. Springfield, newly elected adjutant. The membership drive will close on November 11, when the Corsicana post will sponsor activities appropriate for the celebration of Armistice Day.

Mr. Springfield stated that it is expected to have between 250 and 300 members enrolled by the end of the campaign. The dues have been reduced from $5 per year to $3.50.

The Legion will sponsor a parade on Armistice Day, in which it is hoped that every merchant and organization of the city will take part. The parade will assemble at the Fred M. Allison garage, on North Beaton street, and leave there at 10:30 promptly, march south on Beaton street to Seventh avenue, west to Main street, north on Main street to Second avenue, and then to the City Park. All the Legionnaires and their families, and members of the Auxiliary will then go to Mineral Plunge for a free barbecue.

At 2:30 the Mexia-Corsicana football game will be played under the auspices of the American Legion, and the proceeds will be given to the high school athletic council for the purpose of enlarging and improving Tiger field. Between the halves of the game a flag raising will be held.

Mr. Springfield said that at a meeting of the Legion drum and bugle corps Monday night, it was decided that no one would be admitted into the organization who was not a member of the American Legion.

PRESIDENT CALLS ON NATION OBSERVE ARMISTICE DATE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—President Hoover today called on America to observe Armistice Day with gratitude that the agencies of peace have been strengthened and the nation's relations with other countries "are firmly grounded in amity and accord."

The following proclamation was issued:

"Whereas, the 11th day of November, 1918, is forever memorable as the day upon which ended the World War, with its attendant sufferings and vast wastage of human lives, and

Whereas, it is fitting that the anniversary of this day should be commemorated by exercises which shall do honor to all those who served our country, and especially to the memory of those who died in its service, believing that their sacrifice was in the cause of peace, which we thereby are solemnly bound to do all in our power to advance and secure; and,

Whereas, by concurrent resolution of the senate and the house of representatives, in 1926, the president was requested to issue proclamation for the observance of Armistice Day;

"Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, president of the United States of America, in pursuance of the said concurrent resolution, do hereby order that the flag of the United States be displayed on all government buildings on November 11, 1930, and do invite the people of the United States to observe the day in schools and churches, and other suitable places, with appropriate ceremonies, giving expression to our gratitude that this year past has seen the agencies of peace sensibly strengthened and that our relations with other peoples are firmly grounded in amity and accord.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the seal of the United States.

Done at the city of Washington, this fourth day of November in the year of our Lord, 1930, and of the independence of the United States of America 155th.

(Signed) HERBERT HOOVER,"

Dizzy Spells

MRS. Cora Moshier, of 601 North New Orleans Ave., Brinkley, Ark., writes:
"I was so constipated until I was just sick. I could not stand to take strong medicine, so I decided I would take Black-Draught, and I found it to be all right.

"I would have such dizzy spells, and such bursting headaches, until I could hardly go. But after taking a few doses of Black-Draught I would feel just fine. It is a good medicine, and I recommend it to all who suffer as I did. It is very easy to recommend a medicine that has done as much for me as Black-Draught has done."

Partitioned Hog Trough

A partitioned hog trough will save you trouble in feeding your pigs. Each one will get his proper allowance of food. The "V" trough is made of 1 x 8's, the ends and bottom out of 1 x 4's, the partition boards are 1 x 6's and the 1 x 4 strip at the bottom keeps the slop from being wasted and spread out on the ground. This is just one of a hundred handy helps for which we can furnish plans, including those of the "Farm Building Service Bureau" of Texas A. and M. College. Ask to see them. There is no obligation.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR J. W. PETTY ARE HELD ON THURSDAY

Funeral services for J. W. Petty, 62, native of Texas and well-known resident here, who died Wednesday morning at 11.30 following an illness of four months, were held from 1505 West Sixth avenue, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock with burial in the Hamilton cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. Tom Lenox, pastor of the First Christian church.

Surviving are two sons, Vernon Petty and Louis Petty, both of Corsicana; four daughters, Mrs. G. C. Norwood, Alto; Mrs. Truett House, Oklahoma City; Mrs. Myrtle Meadow, Corsicana; and Mrs. M. E. Cornwell, Dallas; a number of grandchildren; two brothers, J. T. Petty and Robert Petty, of Corsicana; and three sisters, Mrs. A. H. Birdwell, Corsicana; Mrs. Joe Pryor, Angus; and Mrs. T. N. Lackey, Dallas.

Pallbearers were Campbell Gillespie, Rufus Still, Lawrence McCarver, Percy Nowell, Felix Erwin, Earl Presley and Andrew G. Steele.

The funeral was directed by the Corley-McMahon Funeral Home.

Investigator Hired Probe Irregularities In Texas Athletics

SAN MARCOS, Nov. 6—(AP)—Dean V. I. Moore of the University of Texas, addressing the San Marcos Civic club last night, said that the three major athletic conferences in Texas had combined to hire a special investigator to check on alleged irregularities within the athletic departments of member schools.

The three organizations sponsoring the investigation, Dean Moore said, are the Southwest conference, Texas conference and Texas Intercollegiate Athletic association. There are a total of 24 member schools.

Modern college athletics were compared by the speaker to the old Roman games, and the spectators to the Romans. He declared that the early Greeks, with their Olympic games, were more to be envied.

TYPEWRITER STOLEN.

COMPLETE RETURNS ON COMMISSIONER'S RACE PRECINCT 1

Complete unofficial returns from the 17 boxes in commissioner's precinct 1 in Tuesday's election, is that George W. Boyd, Democratic nominee, won over Jack Megarity, present incumbent, and unsuccessful candidate in the Democratic run off primary, 1,208 to 562.

Megarity's name was written in on the ballots.

Megarity was ahead in the boxes outside of the four wards in Corsicana prior to the returns from the Mildred box, which showed 59 votes for Boyd and 10 for Megarity. Outside of the city, Boyd won by two votes, 427 to 425. In Corsicana, Boyd won 781 to 137. Boyd carried 11 boxes and Megarity six.

Returns had been made to the county clerk's office early Thursday morning from 44 of the 48 boxes in Navarro county, and the four remaining out were expected during the day.

Test On Bradley Farm Reported As Being Failure

Jealousy Believed Cause of Slaying Atlantic City Man

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 6.—(AP)—To jealousy police attribute the slaying and attempted cremation last night of Alex Adams, kitchen man at the Davis hotel.

Six persons, one a waitress, were under arrest today and police worked on the theory that the waitress, Miss Billie Sutton, might have been the cause of the killing. Otto Schmitt, chef at the hotel, and the girl left the city together shortly after discovery of the body which was found stuffed into the hotel furnace. An iron pipe beside it was believed to have been used to inflict a fracture, found at the base of the victim's skull.

Police said Schmidtt who was arrested when he returned from Lakewood early today, admitted frequent quarrels with Adams. Pilice said Schmitt had burns on one of his hands.

Daughters Would Erect Monument to Father of Country

WACO, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Commemorating the 200th anniversary in 1932 of the birth of George Washington, Daughters of the American Revolution, meeting in state convention here, had before them today plans for erecting a monument to the first president on the University of Texas campus.

The monument would be financed by school children of Texas at a cost of between $50,000 and 75,000.

Houston was selected for the 1931 convention, after invitations had been extended also by Corpus Christi and Texarkana.

Convicted Slayer Refuses Eat Meals

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 6.—(AP)—For more than 100 hours Alex English, convicted slayer of his sister-in-law, Theresa Spanarella, 18, has refused to eat. He has declared he will never hang for the crime for which he was sentenced to death.

Warden Thomas Clennan of the Denver county jail, where English is confined awaiting the setting of a date for his execution, said the prisoner would be fed forcibly if his condition becomes serious.

MEXIA BLACK CATS HAVE STRONG TEAM FOR ARMISTICE DAY

SPECIAL TRAIN WILL BE RUN TO TEMPLE FOR MELEE NOV. 14

Plans have been outlined here for a special train to carry several hundred football fans from Corsicana to Temple Nov. 14, for an important football contest in district 4, and plans are also being made for the game on Tiger field, Tuesday, Armistice Day, between the Mexia Black Cats and the Tigers. The Mexia-Corsicana game will be sponsored by the Johnson-Wiggins Post No. 22, American Legion, as a part of the Armistice Day celebration, and the Legion will have charge of the ticket sales.

It was decided at a meeting of the Corsicana high school athletic council to await the proposed erection of the additional seats at Tiger field until after the Corsicana-Temple game, thinking that in the event the Tigers are defeated by Temple, the present seating capacity at the gridiron will be sufficient for the Corsicana-Cleburne contest.

Theo Not Hurt

Coach John Pierce announced Wednesday afternoon that he had become unduly alarmed over Theo VanderLaan's leg injury, received Monday afternoon, and that it had been determined that the injury does not amount to anything. VanderLaan took part in the regular training Tuesday afternoon and was pronounced in fine condition. Coach Pierce said that all members of the club were in fine shape and that there was no injuries.

At the meeting relative to the additional 720 seats proposed to be erected, it was decided that plenty of time would be available after the Temple contest. It is also planned to reserve 720 seats in the middle of the field for the Corsicana-Cleburne melee Thanksgiving day.

Mexia Strong

Speaking of the approaching game here Tuesday, Armistice day, Coach Pierce has intimated that a real tussle is expected. If it is not necessary, it is likely that the regulars will not be used much, but will be saved for the Temple contest.

Pierce stated that Mexia has a real club, as was demonstrated by the 19-7 victory over the strong Marlin Bulldogs. Mexia should be in class A company, but does not want to become a member of the strong district 4 company. Mexia has defeated Palestine and Palestine has defeated Marshall this season. Tyler only defeated Palestine 20-18, and Tyler is one of the leading clubs in district 6.

Football fans of Corsicana and Mexia are glad that football relations have been resumed between the two cities. In former years, some of the most hotly contested games of the season were unreeled between these two rivals. Athletic relations were severed several years ago when the Mexia mentor and one of the officials engaged in a fisticuff over a decision and ruling, and the Mexia team was withdrawn from the field and the game forfeited to Corsicana.

The trouble was entirely between the official and the Mexia mentor, and the fans of the two cities were not involved. The resumption of the football games between the two teams is hailed with pleasure by the real grid enthusiasts of the neighboring cities. It is expected that there will be a large crowd on hand here from Mexia for the game.

Legion Sells Tickets

The local legion post is in charge of the ticket sales for the game. A flag raising ceremony will be carried out at the field between the halves. The proceeds from the game will go toward the payment of the cost of the block of land immediately south of Tiger field.

Plans have been made for the special train to Temple. A special round-trip ticket of $2 has been announced by the Cotton Belt officials, which is 50 cents cheaper than the special rate in 1929. The special train will be operated over the Cotton Belt Lines to McGregor via Waco and then will be transferred to the Santa Fe Line for the remainder of the distance, the same route as the special train usd last year when Corsicana was extremely lucky to get out with a tie game, 6-6.

Special Train Schedule.

The special train will leave Corsicana Friday morning, Nov. 14, at 8:15 o'clock and will arrive in Temple at 11:15 o'clock. On the return trip, the train is to leave Temple at 6:30 o'clock and arrive in Corsicana at 9:30 o'clock Friday night, A. L. Springfield, local agent, states.

The special train will consist of 12 cars, and nothing will be left undone by the railroad officials to insure a pleasant trip to the Bell county capital.

Plans are being made here for the annual tussle between Corsicana and Cleburne on Thanksgiving day. There is a possibility that the two teams will be undefeated when they clash and that the championship will be decided on that occasion. On the other hand, both have chances of being defeated on Nov. 14, when the Corsicana Tigers invade the Temple Wildcats' den and the Jackets entertain the Waco Tigers. Neither Corsicana nor Cleburne have cinches to win those games.

The reported unnecessarily rough tactics said to have been employed by the Cleburne club in their game with Temple has revived the discussion by sport writers and fans in district 4, and particularly in Corsicana who does not forget the game played here two years ago. Temple alleges that Cleburne was unnecessarily rough and employed questionable tactics, and that a number of the players were hurt. Cleburne rejoins with the declaration that the talk out of Temple is a losers whine, and that they played hard but fair. The statistic of the game in the press reports show six 15-yard penalties were assessed against Cleburne during that game which are too many, and two touchdowns made by Cleburne were called back and penalties assessed.

Cleburne and Corsicana had a fine game in Cleburne in 1929, and cordial feelings were aroused and fostered by the conduct in that game.

The reports out of Temple recalled memories of the 1928 game here.

An attempt is being made to procure officials for the Corsicana Cleburne game, but so far, only two have been agreed upon. King Gill, formerly of Texas A. and M. college, and Zebbie Howell, Trinity university, will be two of the officials. The other two officials have not ben provided for.

Temple Strong.

A real tussle can be expected when Corsicana invades the den of the Temple Wildcats. Corsicana has won two games from Temple, in 1928, winning, 18-6, and winning, 6-0, last year in Corsicana after the 616 tie game was registered in Temple. Corsicana has never defeated Temple in Temple, and this game should be a thriller. Temple has a good club, and always is a fighting aggregation on Woodson field.

After being defeated by Corsicana last week, Waco meets the weak Waxahachie club in Waco Friday afternoon in the only football game scheduled in district 4 this week. Waco will not be forced to extend much effort to defeat the Indians, but are looking forward to the game the following week in Cleburne with the Jackets. The game in Cleburne, from present indications, is a toss-up, and a real battle is anticipated. The result of this game will be watched with considerable interest here.

Corsicana and Cleburne are idle this week-end. Temple plays her annual game with the Belton Tigers Friday.

SPORT NOTES

By PAUL MOORE, SUN SPORTS EDITOR

HOW THEY LOOK FRIDAY

State Home 13, Teague 6.
Waco 35, Waxahachie 0.
Temple 13, Belton 0.
Texas U. Freshmen 13, Hillsboro Junior college 0.
Southwestern 6, Austin College 0.

HOW THEY LOOK SATURDAY

Breckenridge 19, Abilene 7.
Sweetwater 7, Big Springs 6.
Texas U. 13, Baylor 12.
Arkansas 13, Oklahoma Aggies 6.
Texas Aggies 13, S. M. U. 13, (tie).
T. C. U. 19, Rice 13.

Picking the high school games does not appear to be a difficult assignment, but from the performances of the various members of the Southwestern conference, the present week-end contests present an extremely difficult assignment for the sport writers who pick the doped winners weekly. However, there will be several frays in the conference this week-end which will be thrillers from the word go, led by the sensational battle expected in Waco between the Baylor Bears and the University of Texas Longhorns. The Bear-Longhorn tilt in Waco will be closely pressed for interest by the S. M. U.-Aggie tilt in Dallas, despite the fact that the winner of the Texas-Baylor game will be one of the favorites for the title, and the winning of the game in Dallas has little bearing on the title.

The conference tilt in Houston will also excite considerable interest as the T. C. U. Horned Frogs, 1929 champions and present pace-setters in the 1930 chase with two victories, clash with the fast-stepping Rice Owls who have a 6-0 victory over Texas, and who were eked out, 7-6, by Arkansas. Arkansas was smothered by the Horned Frogs.

Arkansas does not appear in a conference battle this week, but will engage their old-time rivals, the Oklahoma Aggies.

Football fans of Corsicana and Navarro county will have an opportunity of witnessing a hard-fought tussle here Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when the defending champion State Home eleven clashes with the Teague Lions. Teague lost only in the district 14 race, 7-6, to the I. O. O. F. Home band early in the season, but has a real club, and is expected to give the Lads considerable opposition.

Corsicana fans are awaiting the battle here Tuesday between the Corsicana Tigers and the Mexia Black Cats, one of the strong clubs in district 14, and the invasion of Temple where the Tigers and Wildcats will come to grips in an important district 4 battle, Friday, Nov. 14.

The Hillsboro Eagles made a race track out of their game with the class B Whitney club in a practice tilt Wednesday, to win, 52-0..

The 19-6 victory of Corsicana over the Waco Tigers has brought the local club pages of publicity, and the locals are being touted as one of the leaders of the state in the high school circles, but it is well that the team and fans remember that only one of the three hard hurdles in the path of the Tigers to a district championship has been passed, and past history of the Tiger elevens is that they have never passed over two, so let's settle down and go after the district title first, and then think about the bi-district and other games. This looks like a Tiger year, but nothing but hard playing and plenty of work will turn the trick. Corsicana is one of the thirteen undefeated clubs in the class A districts in the Interscholastic league, and there is plenty of competition ahead in district 4—Temple and Cleburne.

One of the features of the football game between Corsicana and Temple is the fact that never has a point after touchdown been made by either team. Three games have been played. In 1928, Corsicana defeated Temple, 18-6, and last year, the first game was a 6-6 draw and the second 6-0 victory for Corsicana.

Tigers Training For Mexia Game Tuesday

The Tigers are starting out into training this week preparing for the games next week with Mexia and Temple. Coach Pierce has not announced his starting lineup for the Mexia game, but intimated that the Tigers would use all players if it was necessary to win the game.

The Tiger mentor has a healthy respect for the football prowess of the Limestone aggregation.

Officials for this game will be Boynton (Williams) referee; Garitty (Texas Aggies) umpire; Howell (Trinity) headlinesman, and A. E. Allen, field judge.

Hearing On T. P. Application Be in Lubbock Dec. 8th

DALLAS, Nov. 6.—(AP)—G. O. Bateman, vice-president of the Texas and Pacific Northern railway, was advised formally today by the interstate commerce commission, that a hearing on application of the company to build 333 miles of new lines in West Texas, would begin December 8 in Lubbock.

Examiner H. C. Davis will preside at the hearing, Bateman was advised.

The extension would be from Big Spring to Vega, with branches to Amarillo and Lubbock.

STATE SCHOOLS MAY WITHDRAW TO FORM OWN LEAGUE

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

DALLAS, Nov. 6.—(AP)—There are rumblings of discord in the ranks of the Southwest Conference. Rumors are that the organization will split in the not distant future, the four "church" or denominational schools going their way and the three state institutions going theirs.

Gus Saper of Houston, an alumnus of Texas A. & M. College, predicted the split would come "within the next few months" in an address before the Port Arthur Aggie Alumni Club the other night. Newspaper accounts of the meeting quote Saper as having declared he had heard a prominent member of the conference appeals committee refer to the formation of a new conference because of the "hired athletes being atracted to various schools now in the Southwest Conference."

"In this new conference," the item continues, "if rumors are correct, will be Texas A. & M., University of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana State University, Oklahoma and Oklahoma Aggies. Definite break looms, with Texas, Texas Aggies and Arkansas pitted against Rice, S. M. U., Baylor and T. C. U," Saper said.

The foregoing is not all that Mr. Saper said, but is sufficient to show that the seed of secession has ben implanted.

Battle of Sophomores.

One of the features of the T. C. U.-Rice melee Saturday at Houston promises to be the warfare between opposing sets of Sophomore wingmen. The champion Horned Frogs have a pair of first-year ends of whom they are exceedingly proud, Madison Pruitt and Dan Salkeld. Rice rooters are similarly enamored of a brace of husky sophs, "Smoky" Klaerner and Jeff Coker. The quartet of youngsters have earned starting berths on their respective elevens ousting several vetrans.

Klaerner, a 200-pounder, is being hailed as one of the greatest end prospects in Rice history and is expected to show to great advantage against the Frog's running attack. Salkeld and Pruitt are well known from their high school days, when they were all-state performers at Abilene and Waco, respectively. Coker hails from Temple.

Sophomores, incidentally, will predominate in both line-ups at Houston. Billy Morgan, captain and guard, is about the only veteran certain of a place on the Owl eleven. Leland, Hinton and Woolwine, veterans, possibly will be in the Frog's starting backfield, with Noble Atkins sure to held down his all-conference berth at center.

KING TO BE UMPIRE

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 6.—(AP)—John King, veteran outfielder of Texas finor league diamonds, has been signed as a Texas league umpire for 1931, it was announced today by President J. Alvin Gardner. King, after managing the Midland club of the West Texas league in 1929, groke in as an umpire last season in the Cotton States league.

A & P operates on the Democratic principle that food which is good for the classes is also good for the masses.
A & P gives effect to this principle by selling the best food at prices the masses can afford to pay, while those who can pay higher prices enjoy the luxury of thrift these days.

Sure Cure For Depression Is Advertising, Says Babson

NEW YORK, Nov. 7---Roger W. Babson has settled upon a remedy for the present depression in business. His prescription is a sure cure, he says.

Diagnosing the reason for the crash as over-production, he points out that this condition will be corrected as soon as mass consumption can be stimulated to catch up with mass production.

The necessary stimulant -- the infallible cure, he says; is Advertising -- on a larger scale than the world has ever. known.

"This is the way out from the present situation," he asserts in Collier's Weekly today. "It is our hope of making mass production our economic salvation instead of the dynamite that may wreck the world.

"As one who has studied business depression in life rather than in libraries, I see in current conditions the call for advertising. There's nothing wrong with the patient but poor circulation. Money is being held instead of circulated.

"Advertising is ideally fitted and competent to accelerate the circulation. It is the most effective known force for accomplishing the speeding up of money and thereby giving us more business at times when more business is the nation's greatest need.

"There never was more money than there is today. Banks hold it, corporations hold it; the people hold it. That is the trouble, the money is held instead of circulated. A beautiful system of piping, a plentiful supply of fluid but the whole mechanism fails to function for want of pumping power of publicity to tell the world of better goods, lower prices and greater service. We need a sound plan to reduce the choppy action of business and promote smoothness and steadiness of growth.

Advertising is this sorely needed governor of business. It requires no novel mechanism. All the apparatus is available. Though capable of illimitable improvement, the fundamental principles of advertising are clearly established; its practice is a well-known art.

"The basic cause at which the jobless should shake their fists is not that too few mills are running, but that too few advertising campaigns are running.

"One proposed plan for reforming bad times is to increase public works. —That policy is wise. The need, however, is not merely for works but for workers—and the way to make people work is to arouse wholesome desires through worthy advertising.

"Another proposal is to slash prices to make a national bargain day. Advertising, however, should make every day a bargain day through quantity prices resulting from the merger of mass production and mass consumption.

"Mass production of goods requires mass production of customers, and that is possible only through advertising. To some people the apparent simplicity of this solution will be a disappointment. It may be disheartening to hear that the best which can be proposed is nothing more than our familiar old friends, honest goods at fair prices and advertising.

"Mr. Watt, however, when he set in motion the industrial revolution, did it by studying a force more commonplace than advertising — the steam from his mother's kettle. Similarly our own times can develop the latent power of advertising into a prime mover in economics. In the light of what it might accomplish, advertising power today is what steam power was in 1770.

"Mere money is not the cause of the wave-like heaving of the chartered course of business over a long stretch of time. As a power in business, the vital thing about money is not its amount but its rapidity of circulation. Theoretically a million-dollar business might be transacted by a single dollar bill if it changed hands with sufficient rapidity. Just as we refer to the speed of an engine by saying that it makes so many revolutions per minute, we can describe the rapidity of circulation of money by saying that it turns over twelve times a year.

"When that rapidity is increased and money circulates faster, business picks up and becomes better. As the circulation of money slows down, business falls off. Some superhuman hand on the throttle, speeding up or cutting down circulation, could make or unmake prosperity. Why cry for a superhuman hand, when we have it already available in advertising?

"By advertising I do not refer to cheerio copy proclaiming a non-existent prosperity, but advertising to sell existing products. Each business man can best promote national welfare by building up the business he knows best—his own.

"Not from any high-flown altruism but with their own skins at stake the public ought to give their most effective support to advertising, by patronage of the best advertisers. For advertising pays only as it pays the public. A consuming public that would not back up a program along these lines would be devoid both of social responsibility and intelligent self-interest. It has not been my experience that the American consumer is deficient on either score.

"Of course the country will eventually revive, as it has in the past. Let us not overlook, however, the new element in our latest depression, namely, th grief that attends mass production without mass consumption. Here is a novel factor that may prove of major importance. It may well temper any easy assumption that we shall pull through if we trust to luck. I prefer to trust to advertising."

OUTWITTING YOUR NERVES

The New Psychology In Action

by Josephine A. Jackson, M.D.

The Famous Writer and Authority on Nerves

REPLIES TO READERS.

Over Awareness.

Miss B. writes: We have student government at our school, and during this semester I am responsible for the conduct of the girl in our hall. Ordinarily the bustle and hum of boisterous behavior does not annoy me. But, now that I must note these many things, I find that even a little innocent spirit of fun on the girls' part gets on my nerves. Do you suppose it is because I am more interested in what the girls will think of me, than in the good of us all?

Answer: The threshold of awareness naturally shifts now in response to the stimulus of self-preservation. But we really should have less concern for self, since it is seldom a matter of life and death that is at stake. In order to have the threshold for self high enough to block the entrance of needless stimuli, we need only to learn that losing ourselves in others is the real secret in gaining self-enlargement. While this is a more round about way, it is a surer means of self-preservation.

The girls will love you, Miss B, just to the extent that they se your thought is for your playing fair to the school and to their advantage, instead of taking their little infractions of discipline as a personal offense to yourself.

Teasing is a favorite sport of the undeveloped mind. It is getting fun at another's expense. When the girls notice that their mischevous behavior gets on your nerves, that idea acts as a further incentive to boisterous pranks.

When you are big enough to leave self oue of the situation, the girls will find no fun in teasing, and your example will bring their better selves to the front. Also, when you put self in the background you will automatically be less sensitive to the innocent gayety of youth.

Learn to be clever in manipulating the thresholds of awareness, especially as to self and not-self.

Depression and Psycho-Neurosis

Mr. D. asks for descriptive definitions, and a brief outline of treatment for Depression and Psycho-neurosis.

Answer: A certain amount of repetition is unavoidable in this column if the needs and wishes of the readers are to be fairly met. My pamphlet on Depression (ten cents and S. A. S. E.) is more satisfying than a brief description; and "Outwitting Our Nerves" as a text book gives to a beginner quite a bit of understanding of the vast problem of Psycho-Neurosis.

But here goes for a brief statement. True depression is a condition of disturbed chemistry in the body, resulting in the loss of the normal sense of well being, and tending to interfere with initiative and with the proper amount of optimism on the part of the personality. It is still a question as to whether in such cases the endocrines are at fault, or whether the disturbance is due to an excess of the acid ash food in the diet.

At any rate, one does well to eat an abundance of the fruits and vegetables and of milk, since all of these foods favor the normal alkalinity of the blood. The patient should observe the usual rules of hygiene in the way of exercise, healthful occupation, and suitable hours for rest in bed. Recovery is sure; but time, ohwever grudgingly given, is a necessary element in the ergaining of normal poise.

A Psycho-neurosis is a disturbance in the personality, brought about by some failure in adaptation to life. With a better understanding of self, readier adjustment is made, so that the slogan of the school of psychotherapy has come to be, "He can do better when he knows."

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Cotton futures close: January 11.02; Mar. 11.27; Dec. 10.85.

New Orleans Spots Steady.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed steady, 10 points down. Sales 6,765; low middling 9.03; middling 10.53; god middling 1,03; receipts 4,295; stock 613,624.

Liverpol Spots Lower.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Cotton spot lower; American strict good middling 6.73; good middling 6.38; strict middling 6.18; middling 6.03; strict low middling 5.83; low middling 5.43; strict god ordinary 4.88; good ordinary 4.48. Sales 8,000 bales, including 3,000 American. Receipts 7,200, all American. Futures closed quiet: December 5.87; January 5.93; March 6.06; May 6.16; July 6.25; October 6.35.

New Orleans Cotton Easier.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Cotton opened easier. Cables were not quite as good as due and first trades showed losses of 3 to 7 points which was rather a larger drop than the cables warranted. As New York opened fairly steady prices here rallied 2 to 3 points right after the start but soon eased off against on continued pre-bureau liquidation and short selling by professional traders.

December eased to 10.78, January to 10.93 and March to 11.19 or 7 to 9 points under yesterday's close.

New York Cotton Steady.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 1 to 6 points under a renewal of liquidation combined with some Southern and commission house selling.

Liverpool just about responded to yesterday's local decline, but was a little luower than due on most of the active months, and this may have encouraged some of the early selling. On the whole, however, no particular news factor was mentioned in connection with the decline which carried the market off to 10.81 for new December and 11.45 for May by the end of the first half hour or about 7 to 10 points net lower.

The market steadied up after the early offerings had been absorbed on continued trade buying and some covering which advanced prices to 10.90 for December and 11.53 for May, or back to about yesterday's closing quotations. The demand tapered off on the bulge, however, and prices later eased off a few points under comparatively small offerings, which may have been inspired by the action of the stock market. At mid-day the active months were selling about 5 to 8 points net lower.

New York Cotton Steady.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 1 to 6 points under a renewal of liquidation combined with some Southern and commission house selling.

Liverpool just about responded to yesterday's local decline, but was a little lower than due on most of the active months, and this may have encouraged some of the early selling. On the whole, however, no particuler news factor was mentioned in connection with the dtcline which carried the market off to 10.81 for new December and 1.45 for May by the end of the first half hour or about 7 to 10 points net lower.

The market ruled comparatively quiet all morning. At one time prices rallied 10 to 11 points from the early lows on good trade buying and covering by shorts owing to improvement in the stock market and a recovery in wheat. December traded up to 10.89 and March to 11.30. This advance attracted a renewal of pre-bureau liquidation and prices were soon back to a level with the early lows.

At noon the market was quiet and steady and practically at the lows.

Grain and Provisions

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Word that rust was spreading in Argentina led to an early upturn of wheat values today.

Opening 1-4 to 1 1-2c higher, Chicago wheat futures deliveries kept near afterward to the initial range. Corn and oats followed wheat, with corn starting unchanged to 1c up, and subsequently holding firm.

Wheat unsettled 3-4 to 1 3-4c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1 1-8 to 2 1-8c advance, oats 3-4 to 1 1-8c up, and provisions varying from 12c decline to a rise of 2c.

Ft. Worth Cash Grain

FORT WORTH, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Grain trade on the Fort Worth market continued slow Thursday with values hard to determine. Number 1 hard wheat was probably worth, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, around 82 1-2 to 83 1-2 cents, but no late sale were posted, and heavy offerings might have been hard to dispose of.

Estimated receipts: Wheat, 5 cans; corn, 6; oats, 3; barley, 3, and sorghums, 6 cars.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn: No. 2 mixed 80-81; No. 2 white of yellow 84-85.

Oats: No. 2 red according to seed quality, 47 1-2 to 48 1-2; No. 3 white delivered Texas group one 42-42 1-2.

Barley: No. 2, 61-61 1-2.

Sorghums: No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally 1-30-1.25; No. 2 kaffir 1.25-1.30. Most offerings of the latter are poor quality and heavily penalized in price.

SEVENTY-NINE ARE KILLED IN BLASTS IN OHIO COAL MINE

winding road leading to Athens, the county seat nine miles away from where relief supplies were being dispatched.

Several hundreds friends and loved ones of the tombed men huddled together, sometimes hysterical, sometimes quietly weeping as they kept their eyes on the entrance to the shaft. Rescue men, working until the effects of the gas drove them out and then giving way to another crew, toiled throughout the night under brilliant searchlights.

As fast as the bodies were brought out, they were taken to the temporary make-shift morgue near the mine entrance, where a corps of 25 embalmers from a number of cities were on hand to lay them out on slabs to await identification.

Many of the victims' faces were blued and twisted and the bodies gave evidences of their wild rushes seeking freedom from the gas.

The first explosion was tremendous. Tons of slate and coal were jolted into the passageways. Bodies of many of the workers were dismembered. A short time later there was a second blast and the mine filled with gas which penetrated masks and held back rescuers until last night.

His wife's apron saved the life of George Rasp, one of the trapper workers who escaped death.

Rasp said he was blown almost 100 feet by the force of the explosion. He hard a roaring noise and then the shouts of his fellow underground prisoners.

"In my hand, for some reason, was my wife's apron, which I had brought to tie around my face because the air had been so bad lately," Rasp related.

"I dipped the apron in some coffee I found in a lunch bucket and tied it across my face. Then I crawled on my hands and feet—it seemed like a mile I crawled—until I came to an air shaft where I was able to get up on a wooden stairway."

For a while he had companions who helped each other across fallen timber and piles of slate, but when he reached the air shaft he was alone. He did not know the fate of the others.

John Butsco of Millfield, who was working about a mile from the explosion section with 30 others, told of shouting a warning and of a race against death. He and his crew and about 60 others escaped, he estimated.

It was estimated that approximately 300 children were left fatherless, but there was a ray of hope for the dependent families left destitute. Governor Myers Y. Coopr ordered representative of the industrial relations department to forget "red tape" and arrange for immediate payment of workmen's compensation funds.

NOTTINGHAM, Eng., Nov. 6.—(AP)—One miner was killed and 36 injured in the derailment of haulage cars in the Moor Green Colliery which got out of control and ran down a hill. Six of the injured were in a serious condition.

REPUBLICANS LACK ONLY ONE SEAT OF HOLDING CONTROL

senate in prospect for the democrats.

So close will be the division of the parties in the next congress that neither will have what the leaders term a "workable majority." Any independent movement which may develop in either branch will be in a position to assume the balance of power.

Discord in the widespread republican ranks was manifest last session in the senate and any independent faction of this party in the house now has an opportunity in the new line-up for power. The new congress takes office a year hence and serves through the next two years of President Hoover's administration.

Five Seats Ahead

Republicans had won 215 seats today in the house contests against 210 for the democrats. The republicans, however, were counting on support from an independent republican, Lovette, elected in the first Tennessee district, and from the farmer-labor member, Kvale of Minnesota, for support in organizing the house. A majority in the house is 218.

With six Kentucky districts and two Minnesota districts missing the count stood:

Republicans 215.
Democrats 210.
Indpt. Republ. 1.
Farmer-labor 1.
Doubtful 8.
Democratic gains 46.
Republican gains 1.
Majority 218.

Present house—republicans 269; democrats 165; farmer-labor 1; republican majority 103.

In the unreported Kentucky districts, democrats were well ahead in five and claimed the sixth held by Mrs. Langley. Victory in all six would boost their total of house seats to 216 equal to that of the republicans and just two short of a majority.

Possible Outcome

However, in the two missing Minnesota districts, the ninth and tenth, the republican incumbents were threatened by farmer-labor candidates rather than democrats. Should the republicans lose both of these, also, it would then leave the count of the new house possible at:

Republicans 215.
Democrats 216.
Farmer-labor 3.
Indpt. repbl. 1.

In Kentucky a new law forbids the counting of ballots until the day after election, and in Minnesota country districts were late in reporting.

Two senate contests remained to be completed, one in each of these states, and the republican incumbents were trailing in each. These two victories would give the democrats 48 of the 96 senate seats against 47 for the republicans and one farmer-labor, Shipstead of Minnesota.

Late returns cut heavily into the lead of Einar Hoidale, democrat, Minnesota, and kept Senator Schall, republican, in the running. Republicans also believed Senator Robsion in Kentucky would pare down the early advantage of M. M. Logan, democrat.

Democratic Gains

In their drive for the house, regarded as the prize of the off-year election, the democrats captured 46 republican seats while losing only one they now hold, that of Kunz in Illinois. It was one of the biggest democratic raids since 1922 when they slashed the republican membership of 302 elected in the Harding landslide to 225.

Incidentally, in the house elected in 1922 the republican majority of 15 was erased by independent action of the Wisconsin republican delegation, which exercised the balance of power by its united independence.

The house republican high command escapes the democratic onslaught but many encountered sesious opposition, including Speaker Longworth, Rep. Vestal of Indiana, the whip, and Rep. Hawley of Oregon, chairman of the ways and means committee. Rep. Wood of Indiana, chairman of the appropriations committe and head of the republican congressional campaign committee, also weathered the democratic storm in Indiana which carried away six republican seats.

Where Gains Made.

The midwestern states of Ohio, Missouri, Indiana and Illinois gave the democrats the big bulk of their gains in the house. Democrats defeated republican incumbents in the following districts:

Missouri—Fifth, sixth seventh, thirteenth, fourteenth and sixteenth districts.
Ohio—Third, fifth, sixth, twelfth, thirteenth and seventeenth.
Indiana—First, third ,fifth, sixth, eleventh, thirteenth.
Illinois—two members at large, third, seventh, twenty-first, twenty-second, twenty-fifth.
Pennsylvania—Eleventh, fourteenth and twenty-second.
New Jersey—Third.
Maryland—Second and sixth.
Connecticut—Firth and fourth.
West Virginia—Third.
Virginia—Seventh and ninth.
North Carolina—Ninth and tenth.
Wisconsin—Sixth.
Oklahoma—First and fifth.
Iowa—Second.
Nebraska—Fourth and and fifth.
New Mexico Member at large.
Oregan—Third.

The reported intention of Huey Long, democratic senator-elect from Louisiana, to retain the governorship of Louisiana for two more years and not to take his seat until that time may upset the prospect of the democrats to organize the senate.

This situation is one of many involved in such a close division now apparent in the make-ups of both the senate and house in the next congress.

As the final returns were being checks, the prohibitionists and anti-prohibitionists continued their arguments over the effect of the election results.

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment claimed big net gains in both the senate and house but the Anti-Saloon league expressed no concern and called attention that the wets were far from a two-thirds majority in either branch. This margin is necessary to submit a repeal amendment [illegible].

In the three states [illegible] prohibition repeal, the voters of [illegible] Rhode Island and Massachusetts recorded overwhelming majorities against prohibition.

Pinchot Will Rest After Hard Campaign

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—(AP)—With victory assured in his battle for the governorship, Gifford Pinchot, dry republican, planned today to go into seclusion to rest up from his strenuous campaign.

Pinchot's election was conceded by his wet democratic opponent, John Hemphill, and his plurality mounted steadily toward the 80,000 mark as additional returns trickled in. With only 57 districts out of 8321 in the state missing, the vote was: Pinchot 1,066,189; Hemphill 986,283. The total vote was the largest ever polled in a Pennsylvania gubernatorial fight.

In sweeping to victory for second term Pinchot carried 59 of the 67 counties of the state. Philadelphia gave Hemphill a plurality of more than 225,000.

All other republican nominees on the state-wide ticket were elected by normal republican majorities. With 7634 districts reported the vote for United States senator stood: James J. Davis, republican, 1,300,193; Sedgwick Kistler, democrat, 482,456.

The republicans lost three seats in congress, the 11th, 14th and 22nd districts. They gained two seats in the state senate but lost four in the state house of representatives.

Kansas Governor Race Very Close

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 6.—(AP)—A lead of 75 votes was held by Frank (Chief) Haucke, Republican, over Harry Woodring, Democrat, in the neck and neck race for governor of Kansas on the face of complete unofficial and revised returns today. It became more certain as the unofficial figures were checked that the official vote, including absentee ballots, would be necessary to determine the outcome.

The unofficial totals, still subject to revision in some counties, gave Haucke 214,779, Woodring 214,704.

With the result so close it was apparent that the usually negligible absentee vote would play an important part in deciding the contest. Official estimates place the absentee ballots in the neighborhood of 3,600.

Official canvass in the counties will start Friday. The count of the absentee votes will not be known until next week.

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Two comparatively youthful bachelors, both world war veterans, today awaited final election tabulations to determine which would be governor of the state of Kansas.

Harry Woodring, democrat, trailed Frank (Chief) Haucke, republican, for more than 24 hours, finally took the lead, held it briefly, then relinquished it. The Woodring total mounted steadily yesterday, however, and today it appeared like that the absntee ballots would play an important part in the decision.

Unofficial reports from 2,670 of 2,674 precincts gave Haucke 214,568; Woodring 214,038, and Dr. J. R. Brinkley, independent, 181,294.

Should Woodring be successful in his contest Kansas will be served by a democratic governor as well as by a democratic senator. George McGill, a nemcomer in national politics, defeated Senator Henry J. Allen, seeking election to the senatorial short term. Allen, a former Kansas governor, was appointed to the post following the resignation of Vise-President Charles Curtis.

Senator Arthur Capper, republican, easily defeated Jonathan M. Davis, one of the few democratic ex-Governors.

Britain Interested In U. S. Elections

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Results of Tuesday's elections in the United States attracted popular British attention principally as they turned on the prohibition question and indicated growth of opposition to the eghteenth amendment.

Serious editorial comment, while noting the wet tendency in some states, took the view that any immediate alteration of the prohibition laws was not to be expected and that everything pointed to the United States still remaining nominally dry.

The Morning Telegraph, openly sympathetic with President Hoover, said: "That his election was followed by the worst depression the United States has known in many years is certainly not his fault but it is no less certainly a great misfortune for him and the republicans who claimed not without justification that they are the party of prosperity. * * * * The usual result of opposition between the president and congress is a deadlock and paralysis of both and if that should be the issue of the elections it will be a great misfortune for Americans, and not for America alone."

The Daily Press commented the American politics are so complicated that nothing whatever may come of the democratic victories, which seem principally "a vote of disapproval of hard times coupled with the name of Hoover." The paper added that all well-wishers of the United States would rejoice if the election could be interpreted to mean that Americans had taken a step to free themselves of the entanglement of prohibition but it saw no such significance.

Gangster Opponent Wins

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Judge John H. Lyle of the municipal court, much publicized because of his campaign against gang leaders, was one of few republicans who withstood the landslide of democratic ballots in Tuesday's election. He won, belated returns showed, despite the fact the Chicago Bar association had considered him as "not of judicial temperament."

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 6.—(AP) With less than 20 of the state's 2,115 boxes missing today, John H. Bankhead's unofficial majority over J. Thomas Heflin for the latter's senate seat stood at more than 52,000.

Bankhead, regular democratic nominee had amassed 149,983 votes to 97,789 for Heflin, who ran as an independent after he was excluded as a candidate in the democratic primary for failure to support the party's presidential ticket in 1928.

Heflin termed Tuesday's election "corrupt and fraudulent" and said he would demand a senate investigation.

The same tabulation gave B. M. Miller, regular democrat, 150,822 votes for governor to 91,502 for Hugh A. Locke, who ran with Heflin on a self-styled Jeffersonian ticket.

Italy Interested in Pro Feature.

ROME, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Prohibition implications of the American election returns attracted more attention here than any other phase of the polling.

Messagero's London correspondent, analyzing the results, noted defeat of Senator Heflin in Alabama, commenting that he "last year covered himself with ridicule with his violent attacks against Premier Mussolini and the Pope in the senate."

Election of women to congress constitutes one of the most curious phases of the balloting to Italians, whose women do not vote.

Demos Win In Alaska

JUNEAU, Aalska, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The most northern territory of Uncle Sam's dominion apparently has fallen under the spell of the democratic tide which hit the states Tuesday.

George B. Grigsby, democratic candidate for delegate to congress, the highest elective office in the territory, was leading James Wickersham, republican, by 417 votes, with approximately 70 per cent of the voters reported.

Democratic candidates for the territorial legislature were also polling large votes in many districts, but returns were too incomplete to be conclusive.

Republicans were apparently assured of two posts in the territorial government, however, as A. G. Smith, candidate for treasurer, and Cash Cale, candidate for auditor, were maintaining leads over their opponents.

Bryan Wins in Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 6—(AP)—The name of Bryan, long potent in the politics of Nebraska and the nation's Democracy, shone with some of its old lustre today in the apparent victory of Charles W. Bryan in the governorship race.

Returns from 1915 of the 2,040 precincts of the state gave Bryan a former governor and the Democratic vice presidential nominee in 1924, a 7,000 lead over Gov. Arthur Weaver, his Republican opponent. The vote was: Bryan 207,572, and Weaver 200,222.

Bryan is a brother of the late William Jennings Bryan.

Except in the gubernatorial contest, the Republican state ticket was successful by a wide margin in Tuesday's election which also returned to the senate George W. Norris. At the same time Nebraska sent four democrats and two Republicans to congress.

Prohibition Safe.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Prohibition will be safe in the new congress, Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, a co-author of the Eighteenth Amendment, said today in commenting on the election results.

"Recent elections indicate above everything else the American people are swinging back to the historic party of the American masses, the Democratic party," he said.

"So far as prohibition is concerned, it is absolutely safe. An overwhelming majority of the members of both the senate and the house of the new congress will be dry."

Sheppard plans to return to Texas for speaking engagements within a few days.

Illinois Delegation.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(AP)—A congressional delegation of 15 Republicans and 12 Democrats from Illinois seemed probable today as straggling returns displaced one Republican candidate and Richard Yates, representative at large, rallied enough down state ballots to cut in half and seriously menace the lead of his Democratic opponent, Walter Nesbit.

Final compilation of the figures from the 24th Illinois district, showed Claude V. Parsons, Democrat, chosen over James V. Heidinger, Republican, who had previously been the leader.

Early this afternoon Illinois had definitely elected 13 Republican congressmen, 11 Democrats, a Democrat and a Republican were ahead in two other districts and Representative Yates had 800 down state precincts left in which to wipe out the 9,000 vote advantage of esbit. The last 179 precincts counted had trimmed Nesbit's lead by 9,000.

Defeat Not Conceded.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The Democratic national committee announced today it would not accept as final the unofficial returns from any closely contested elections to the house.

The committee said that it would not concede the defeat of the Democratic candidate in the eighth district in Indiana or in the tenth district in Illinois.

Representative Vestal, Republican, was reported to have won over Claude C. Ball, Democrat, by nine votes in the eighth Indiana district, while Representative Chindblom, Republican, Illinois, had a close contest with John E. Hesse, in the tenth district.

A study is to be made of other close contests and the committee plans to wait on the official count before conceding any seat.

MUNCIE, Ind., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Discovery of an error made by the election officials of one precinct in Delaware county today changed the complexion of the eighth congressional race and gave Claude C. Ball, democrat, a lead of 25 votes over his republican opponent, Albert H. Vestal.

It was found that in a precinct where both voting machines and Australian ballots were used the election officials had failed to add the machine vote.

The county canvassing board at noon today still had fourteen of the county's forty-two precincts to count.

The canvassin board will be unable to complete its work until late tonight or early tomorrow morning. Whatever the outcome a recount may be demanded, party leaders indicated.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 6.—(AP)—After trailing in tabulations until noon, Godfrey G. Goodwin, republican incumbent, took a small lead in the race for representative in congress from the tenth Minnesota district over Erling Swenson, farmer-laborite, who had democratic support.

Returns from 298 of 318 precincts gave Goodwin 35,343; Swenson 34,965. Rural precincts which remained to be heard from lay in territory where Goodwin has obtained his strongest support.

DIVERGENT VIEWS AIRED ON REASONS FOR DEMO VICTORY

"crazy quilt." It was to be expected, he added, that the republicans would lose 35 seats even without the disturbance caused by the economic depression.

John J. Raskob, democratic national chairman, termed the democratic sweep a "notable victory on clean-cut political issues." He announced he would do everything in his power to have the democratic party view the tariff as an economic rather than a political question, "thus removing from business minds all cause for alarm and uncertainty to how business will be treated in the event that yesterday's election and future elections give control of congress to our party."

He asserted "fair trade, not free trade," was his party's aim.

Al Smith's Ideas

Alfred E. Smith, the 1928 democratic standard bearer said:

"The people have responded to a truthful and direct presentation of the issues."

Outlining his reason for considering the election result a vindication, Lucas said no administration had ever gene into a congressional election under such adverse conditions. The results, he added, were "convincing evidence of the abiding faith of the thinking people of the country in the leadership of Herbert Hoover."

Chairman Fess said:

"Viewing yesterday's election as a whole there is an apparent absence of the general effect of any outstanding national issue. It is obvious that prohibition cut both ways across the party lines, but while forming a controlling factor in some instances, it developed no national trend. The tariff may have had its effect in isolated sections but certainly it was not a dominating issue in a national sense."

Wets and Drys Quiet

Leaders interested primarly in the prohibition issue were generally awaiting a more complete summary of results before expressing conclusions. Charles H. Sabin, head of the crusaders, an anti-prohibition group, said the election reflected a "changing public sentiment" toward prohibition.

Henry H. Curran, presdent of the association against the prohibition amendment discussed the New York state situation, ascribing Governor Roosevelt's runaway victory to his stand "for real repeal without reservation." He expressed gratification also that the republican party in the state of New York "is now for repeal for the first time and for all time."

One dry leader, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, of Beverly, Massachusetts, chairman of the national women's committee for law enforcement, termed the Massachusetts repeal of its state prohibition act "a great disappointment." while both pro and anti prohibition women leaders in New York expressed some satisfaction at results there and in other states.

of the press section stampeded for the exit where copies of Litvinoff's remarks were being distributed.

The American delegate remained silent throughout today's opening meeting of the preparatory commisison.

Procedure Discussed.

Lord Cecil of Great Britain, Count Von Bernstorff of Germany, Naotake Sato of Japan, Litvinoff and Chairman Laudon occupied the session with a discussion of the method of procedure. Count Von Bernstorff and Chairman Loudon wished to continue where the commission left off at its last sitting eighteen months ago without reopening questions already settled.

Litvinoff, however, derided the idea and declared that the passage of eighteen months could not be ignored. Lord Cecil wished to proceed with final and third reading of the draft convention.

The commission has been trying for five years to complete this draft convention for submission to a general disarmament conference. It finally was agreed in principle that questions formerly settled should not be reopened, except at the discretion of the chairman.

Before adjourning the first sitting, the commisison agreed to ist each morning from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m., leaving the afternoon open for private conversations and exchange of views.

EXECUTIVE BOARD CORSICANA BAPTIST ASSOCIATION MEETS

The executive board of the Corsicana Missionary Baptist association met Monday, November 3, at Roane and approved the plan to consolidate the churches of Corsicana Baptist association with the churches of Ellis County Baptist association. Pursuant to this action the matter was discussed freely before the general assembly of the workers' conferenc of the association. Numerous questions were asked and the details of the proposal were explained. The same action was taken by the board and workers' conference of Ellis county meeting the same day at Midlothian.

In order to learn the wishes of the churches of the two associations as to the plan, the churches of each association are called, by their respective boards, to meet in joint session at Ennis on November 17, at 10 a. m. Each church is requested to elect messengers just as to the annual meeting. When these messengers assemble at Ennis they will first meet in separate associational bodies, discuss and vote on the proposed plan. If both groups meeting separately approve the plan, then they will assemble as one body and put the plan in operation. If either association through its messengers fails to approve the plan the associations will remain as they are according to announcement by the leaders of the Corsicana association.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS CARRY ELECTION IN DECISIVE WAY

ALL AMENDMENTS CARRIED APPARENTLY; VOTE IS VERY LIGHT

DALLAS, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Additional compilation today by the Texas election bureau of returns from yesterday's election in Texas did not change any of the indicated results.

With nearly half of the estimated total vote counted, the five proposed constitutional amendments appeared to be safe. The least popular of the five was still leading by a majority of more than five to three.

The lead of Representative Harry M. Wurzbach, republican, in his successful race for reelection in the fourteenth district, mounted with every new tabulation. The latest figurss gave Wurzbach 20,548 votes to 14,799 for Henry B. Dielmann, the democartic nominee.

Ross S. Sterling's majority over Co. William E. Talbot in the governor's race continued almost 5 to 1. The latest count gave the democratic nominee and chairman of the state highway commission 120,763 votes to 25,952 for Talbot. The returns were from 160 of the state's 253 counties including 9 complete.

The vote on the constitutional changes follows: To double the length of legislative sessions, for, 66,701, against 27,339; to double the salaries of legislators, for 62,474, against 34,732; to eliminate the enforced three months vacation for the supreme court, for 73,544 against 25,329; to widen the investment field for the University of Texas fund, for 65,900, against 32,409; to allow counties to tax University of Texas lands within their boundaries, for 69,109, against 28,782.

Salary Amendment Closest

A. F. Henning, manager of the election bureau, said he was not convinced the legislative salaries amendment had carried. He added he did not believe the favorable margin would fade away to the vanishing point unless the total vote reached about 400,000.

The vote was the lightest since the general election of 1928 and rivaled that election in smallness. Officials of the election burau estimated that not more than 300,000 ballots were cast.

Republicans Far Behind

Col. William E. Talbot of Dallas, republican nominee for governor, apparently did not poll the 100,000 votes necessary for his party to be enabled to hold a primary two years hence. The republicans this year held their second primary in Texas history.

Wurzbach's lead over Henry B. Dielmann, the democratic nominee for congressman from the fourteenth district, pasesd 4,000 with more than two-thirds of the estimated vote accounted for. The vote was Wurzbach 13,197, Dielmann 9,003.

Hidalgo County Quiet

In Hidalgo county, long the scene of political strife, the election, policed by state rangers, wa quiet. The races were unofficially reported as close between the democrats and the good government league ticket. The league had workers outside of each polling place to check the vote of its supporters.

W. R. Poage of Waco, former representative, had a lead of more than two to one over his nearest opponent in the special state senat election to choose a successor to Edgar Witt, elected lieutenant governor. The reporting boxes were in Poage's home county. All candidates were democrats.

Partial returns from Comal Hays and Caldwell counties gave Representative W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales, democrat, a slim lead in the race for state senator from the nineteenth district. His opponent was Representative Reno Eickenroht of Seguin, the only republican in the forty-first legislature.

DISAPPEARANCE OF HEAD OF BURLESON COLLEGE REPORTED

mond, Va., was en route here to help in the search.

Members of his family expressed belief that he had met foul play or he would have communicated with them.

DALLAS, Nv. 6.—(AP)—Disappearance of Dr. E. W. Province, 51, president of Burleson College Greenville, soon after his arrival here Monday, caused concern today among friends and associates who were searching for him.

Relatives sought the aid of Greenville and Dallas police yesterday when they failed to hear from him.

The college president left a note at his home in Greenville, addressed to his wife, saying he was going to Dallas and would return to Greenville Monday afternoon.

He came here with William Caylor of Greenville, who said Dr. Provence alighted from his automobile on Gaston avenue, near Lakewood country club, planning to visit a sister, then expected to attend a conference with Dr. J. B. Cranfill and Cullen F. Thomas concerning affairs of Burleson College, a Baptist institution. He has not been heard from since he left Caylor.

Dr. Provence went to Greenville last July from Montezuma, New Mexico, to asume the presidency of Burleson College, prior to which he had been business manager of Texas Technological College at Lubbock.

He was described as being six feet three inches in height, weighs 210 pounds, has grey eyes, brown hair, wears glasses, and when he left Greenville, was attired in a grey suit.

BOTH ARMS SEVERED

FERRIS, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Floyd Stainback, 28, lost both arms when he fell in a hay press on a farm near here today. Both arms were severed just below the elbow. Stainback was sent to a Dallas hospital in a critical condition.

KENTUCKY RETURNS TO OLD PLACE IN DEMOCRATIC RANKS AFTER HOOVER LANDSLIDE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Indications Kentucky would have nine democrats among its eleven members of the house approached almost a certainty today as returns continued to be tabulated in Tuesday's election.

Judge M. M. Logan, long term, and Ben Williamson, shot term, democratic senatorial candidates slowly increased their leads over the republican incumbent, John M. Robison, seeking both terms, until they ranged around 31,000.

Six democrats already are assured of re-election, three without opposition in the first, second and third districts, and three in the seventh, eighth and ninth with such commanding leads, with chiefly democratic counties incomplete, as to be safe. Republicans assured of re-election are those in the fifth and eleventh.

The districts left in doubt, but with democrats leading are the fourth, sixth and tenth.

If the final returns showed a democratic winner in the tenth it would be the first time the district ever sent a member of that pary to the house.

Returns from 529 of the 326 precincts in the tenth gave A. J. May, democrat, 21,377 to 20,072 for Mrs. Katherine Langley, republican incumbent, and May's big advantage still lay in Knott county, normally democratic, with most of its precincts yet unaccounted. He appeared to have carried Mrs. Langley's own county, Pike, by a good majority.

In the senatorial race, returns from 2,687 precincts out of [illegible],155 showed Logan 221,903 and Robison 190,589 for the [illegible] term. Short term returns, from 2,633 precincts were: Ben Williamson, democrat, 210,744 and Robison, 175,234. Election of the democrats would give Kentucky two members of that party in the senate as A. W. Barkley, holding the other seat, is a democrat.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 6.—(AP)—A democratic gain of five congressmen and one senator in Kentucky, with a possibility of a gain of a sixth congressman, was indicated by incomplete returns from the eleven districts now represented by eight republicans and three democrats.

Five congressional districts that sent republican representatives to congress in the Hoover landslide of 1928 apparently had returned to the democratic fold. The democratic candidates were leading by apparently safe majorities in the fourth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth ditstricts, with about half of the returns reported.

Judge M. M. Logan, democrat, had a 32,000 lead over Senator John M. Robsion, republican incumbent, for the long senate term on reports from 2,464 of the state's 4,155 precincts. Ben Williamson, Robsion's democratic opponent for the short term was leading by approximately the same majority as Logan.

Mrs. Katherine Langley, republican representative from the tenth district, was leading A. J. May by a narrow margin on returns from 167 of 326 precincts. Her vote totaled 13,917 to 13,652 for May, and democrats were predicting May would be elected when the final returns were tabulated.

The Louisville Courier Journal, independent democratic, today, claimed she was defeated by 3,600.

Although Judge Logan amassed a majority of more than 32,000 on returns from less than half of the precincts, three republican districts have yet to be heard from before the final outcome of the senatorial race is known. Only 52 precincts of the 633 reported yesterday in Jefferson county, a republican stronghold. The eleventh district, reporting 380 out of 540 precincts, gave Robsion 36,759 votes to 18,859 for Logan, and the tenth district, with only half of its precincts reporting, gave Robsion a lead of 3,600 votes out of 26,500 cast. The delay in counting the ballots in Jefferson county may prevent the result being known before the end of the week.

Murray and Gore Win.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 6.—(AP)—William H. Murray, governor-elect and T. P. Gore, senator-elect, both democrats, maintained their leads today over their republican opponents, Ira Hill and Senator W. B. Pine, respectively, as the count of Oklahoma's 3360 precincts neared completion.

Gore's majority was better than 28,000 and Murray's approached 94,000.

The vote:

Senator—3301 precincts, Gore, 248,716; Pine 220,543.

Governor—3307 precincts, Murray 293,723; Hill 199,851.
